Reflections

I will let no man drag me down so low as to make me hate him.

If you don't define yourself for yourself, you will let the expectations of others rule your life, and you will be eaten alive.

"Judge me not by the color of my skin, but by the content of my character."

I will not try to be what someone else expects me to be because then if I do that, I will stop being who I am.

Obituary

KEITH KENYETTA MOORE died suddenly on May 30, 2023. Born February 4, 1964, to the late Emmanuel Moore of Pittsburgh, PA and the late Grace Moore (James) of Boston, MA. The youngest of four children, he is survived by his sisters Cheryl Moore Williams, Karen Jeter (Moore), and Michele Moore-Pulley. He leaves to mourn his passing his loving children, Keith Anthony Moore, Jasmine Marie Moore, and Elijah Dante Moore. He also leaves his grandchildren Keith Anthony Moore, Jr., Kei'on Kenyetta Moore, Kami'yah Unique Moore; Zeniya K.L. Moore, Mikiya A. Moore, Michael D. Moore; and Ehlani Dejae Moore.

Keith also leaves a host of nephews, nieces, cousins, other relatives and friends.

Keith was born in Boston, MA and grew up in Dorchester. He attended English High School. Upon graduation from English High School, he joined the U.S. Army. After serving in the Army, he returned to Boston and entered his trade of carpentry. Keith married in 1989 and had three children. He continued to work in carpentry and was exceptional at his craft. Throughout his adult life, he worked in carpentry, construction, and landscaping.

Keith's second love was body building! He was avid about staying in good condition and often he was found either working out with weights or zipping around the city on one of his bikes! Keith was very competitive, especially on the chess board. He was an artist and writer. Keith was passionate and complex. He did not share his introspective side with many. He enjoyed spending time at the beach, swimming, dancing, watching sports, and eating a lot! Most of all, Keith enjoyed laughter and banter with family and friends. "He was a character and he was authentic" were often said of him. His boundless energy will be missed!

Keith renewed his relationship with Christ in January 2022 and joined Zion Apostolic Church where he attended faithfully. He spoke often and fondly of his new church home. We are grateful that he found happiness there.
