BIOGRAPHY

Wendell Terry Davison, born on November 12 in Boston, MA, was the cherished son of William and R. Helen Davison. He grew up in Stoughton, MA and graduated from Stoughton High School. He furthered his education by graduating from ITT Technical Institute. Terry was a devoted and loving man, deeply committed to his family. As the eldest of five, he embraced his role with dedication and pride, being a source of strength and support for his brothers and sisters. Terry insisted that his siblings call him "Bubba." Despite their reluctance, they complied to keep him happy. Terry's profound love for his children—Wendell Terrance, Mourghen Kayla, and Todd Richard was unwavering. Known for his mechanical aptitude, Terry enjoyed disassembling and reassembling various items, whether they were broken or not. He had a habit of calling his parents six to seven times a day just to say hi, tease them, and always made a final call at 9:45pm to say goodnight. He worked as an auto mechanic for many years and took immense pride in his trade, frequently offering to repair his friends' and family's cars and motorcycles, not for profit, but for the satisfaction.

Terry had a passion for trucks and motorcycles, spending his weekends riding with his lifelong childhood friends, Marc Busby, Ronnie Howes, Jocko Tate, Dana and David Gomes, Tony White, and Peter Barrett. He also cherished special friendships with Stephanie Ingram and Wanda Oyola. Terry's caring nature was evident even as a preteen, as he would accompany his grandmother on weekly shopping trips, ensuring she chose the right colors due to her sight problems.

At the age of 12, Terry professed his faith in Christ as his Lord and Savior and was baptized at the Concord Baptist Church in Boston, Massachusetts, under the leadership of the late Rev. Dr. James Coleman. Over the years, Terry was active at church, serving as an usher and Trustee, assisting with parking lot detail, and singing with the Brotherhood Chorus. Much like his mother, Terry had a passion for furniture shop.

His father gave him his first motorcycle, and a few years later, Terry joined the motorcycle club The Tuskegee Airmen where he was affectionately known as “Superman.” He loved the organization, particularly because they had received permission from the surviving members of the original Tuskegee Airmen to use their name. The club wasn’t just about riding; they raised money for various charities, feeding the hungry and homeless, and providing toys for children in need during Christmas. Terry eventually became the coordinator for the group. Like his parents Terry loved people and always willing to help someone.

In 2014, Terry felt the need for a change and moved to Atlanta, where he started a new career in Guest Relations at a Marriott Hotel. Shortly after, he joined the Berean Christian Church in Stone Mountain, Georgia, and attended New Discipleship classes with his sister Gia. However, after some time, he missed his family and decided to return home.

We ask for your prayers for our family, especially his children, and his parents, as we cope with the loss of Terry. Our circle has been broken, and although we understand that Terry was only a loan from God, it still hurts deeply to lose a loved one.

He is survived by his three (3) CHILDREN:

FOUNDING

Dad,
I will always remember the things you taught me. Even though you aren't here in the present, I know that you haven't left my side. I will do my best to take care of my siblings and cherish your name. Love you old man. See you when I see you.

WEN

Father Gumdrop (A random name I created that you loved),
I am missing you tremendously! That will never stop. It's going to be difficult adjusting to life without you here physically...But it gives me comfort knowing that I now have a personal Guardian Angel.
Because of you, we have so many memories that you left behind and I'm forever grateful for that.
PLEASE visit me in my dreams.
I LOVE YOU, TER. ALWAYS & FOREVER
Your "One and Only Babygirl"

P.S. DON'T BE MAD IF GOD STILL WANTS YOU TO WEAR A HELMET ON YOUR BIKE RIDES UP THERE LOL

MOURGHEN

Dad,
It's so tough to see you leave so soon, but I'm so proud of you. You will be remembered for so much, by so many people. You were so cool and uniquely your own person. You will never truly understand the impact you have had on people, and that's ok. Your impact will live on through all of your friends and family. Memories may fade or miss details as time goes on, but none of us will ever forget the joy and laughter you brought into our lives. I love you.

Reflections

Appreciation

We want to express our heartfelt gratitude to our family and friends for their unwavering support during this challenging time.

Thank you to our Pastor Dr. Kerwin B. Lee, Founder and Overseer of Berean Christian Church and First Lady Yolanda T. Lee. We'd also like to thank our campus Pastor Darrell Barrett for being a great support system, along with the Deacons Ministry and members of the Berean Christian Church. We would also like to thank our friends and family for your phone calls, prayers, visits, comforting messages, floral tributes, personal kindness and other expressions of love and sympathy during this time of bereavement. If at anytime we can be of service to you please don't hesitate to ask. We'd like to thank our home church, Concord Baptist of Boston, along with Drs. Conley and Moreen Hughes and our church family for welcoming us back home.

A special thank you to all of Terry's friends for standing by him. His love and impact is felt near and far. Thank you to his nieces, nephews, and cousins who came as far as California to be here today.

Your kindness and comforting words have meant the world to us. We find solace in knowing that Terry is now in the arms of God. Your continued prayers and thoughts are deeply appreciated.

Terry will be buried next to his maternal grandmother Rebecca Bleach Smith at Cedar Grove Cemetery in Dorchester, MA.

Thank you to Davis Funeral Homes, Inc.

In Loving Memory
