

"The Link"

*They say memories are golden;
well maybe that is true.
I never wanted memories,
I only wanted you.
A million times I needed you,
a million times I cried.
If love alone could have saved you,
you never would have died.
In life, I loved you dearly,
In death, I love you still.
In my heart, you hold a place
no one could ever fill.
If tears could build a stairway
and heartache make a lane,
I'd walk the path to Heaven
and bring you back again.
Our family chain is broken,
and nothing seems the same,
but as God calls us one by one,
the chain will link again.*

The Obituary

Marcus Reginald Banks, also known as “Pypes,” was born on August 3, 1983, to Marvin Banks, Sr. and Felicia Banks. He departed this life September 11, 2026, in Salisbury, Maryland. He received his Elementary Education at Faith Deliverance Academy in Salisbury, Maryland, and graduated from Wicomico Senior High School in Salisbury in 2001. He later attended Universal Technical Institute, where he became a Certified Auto Body Technician and later became self-employed, Pypes Auto Body.

Marcus was a loving son, brother, father, nephew, grandson, and grandfather. He had a passion for making music and was gifted to create original music and sang beautifully. His main passion was spending time with his children and painting cars. Marcus also was a connoisseur of food and loved to eat.

Marcus was preceded in death by his paternal grandparents, maternal grandfather, and maternal and paternal uncles.

He leaves to cherish his memories with his mother, Felicia Banks of Salisbury; his father, Marvin Banks Sr. (Barbara), of Willards, Maryland; his sons: Marcus Banks, Cristopher Banks, Isaac Okolo, Monier Banks, Marley Banks, and Kaden Banks; his grandson, Legend Banks; maternal grandmother, Greatha Pinder of Salisbury; one sister, Megan Banks, of Salisbury; and one brother, Marvin Banks Jr., of Cambridge; one maternal aunt, Lucinda Beckett (Thomas) of Salisbury, paternal aunts and uncles: Diane (William), Michael, Nathan (Avis), and Randy, several nieces and nephews: Lasia (Princess), Marvin III, Ramar, Josiah, Ty'mere, and Ya'son (Joey Mack) of Salisbury; Cameron of Denton, Maryland; Genesis of Bridgeville, Delaware; and McKinsey of Cambridge, Maryland and a host of cousins.
