

Miss Me But Let Me Go

When I come to the end of the road

And the sun has set for me,

I want no rites in a gloom-filled room,

Why cry for a soul set free!

Miss me a little - but not for long

And not with your head bowed low.

Remember the love that we once shared,

Miss me, but let me go.

For this journey that we all must take

And each must go alone;

It's all a part of the Master's plan

A step on the road to home.

When you are lonely and sick at heart

Go to the friends we know,

And bury your sorrows in doing good deeds.

Miss me, but let me go.

Obituary

Henri Jean Reynolds, born Stallings and affectionately known as "Jean" or "Ranny," was born on July 23, 1936, to the union of Henry Stallings and Frankie Mae Stallings in Newnan, Georgia.

Jean attended Newnan High School, and shortly thereafter, she and her family moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, where she earned her nursing degree from Cincinnati Technical College.

Jean became the loving mother of her only child, Shirley J. Reynolds, who preceded her in death. As the matriarch of her family, Jean was also a devoted grandmother and great-grandmother. She dearly loved her sweet goddaughter, Hannah Allen.

Jean kept God at the head of her life. She was a faithful and devoted member of Bibleway C.O.G.I.C., where she served as the Sunday School Superintendent and sang with the Bibleway Mass Choir. When Jean was not faithfully serving as a church leader or caring for others as a nurse, she enjoyed being an active member of the Mt. Auburn Senior Citizens Club.

Jean now rejoins her beloved daughter, Shirley J. Reynolds; her parents, Henry and Frankie Mae Stallings; and her beloved aunt, Otis Mae Cobb, in eternal rest.

She leaves to cherish her memory her three granddaughters, Shamela Byrd (Terrance), Jamie Lindsay, and Alexis Lindsay; her beloved great-grandchildren, Anthony Branch, Cavari Byrd, and Cyla Byrd; a host of cousins and friends; the staff and residents of Mt. Airy Gardens; and her special sister-in-law, Josephine Carlson, who lovingly referred to Jean as "Sis."
