

"Memories of You"

You were just here in our presence,
And now you're gone.
The smell of your perfume is a souvenir from you.
You were a strong woman,
It is buried in your name.
Now all we have is memories,
And a picture in a frame.
Your memory is our token.
With which we'll never part.
God has you in his keeping.
We have you in our heart.

In loving memory of Deborah Barron

Obituary

Deborah Denise Barron, lovingly known as “Debbie,” was born to the late Joseph Hallums and Dorothy Ann Wynn on October 28, 1960, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Debbie attended Washburn Elementary and later Bloom High School.

To those who truly knew Debbie, she left behind a legacy of love, kindness, and cherished memories. Debbie was a woman who found immense joy in the simplest pleasures of life, and she shared that joy with all who were fortunate enough to know her.

As a child, Debbie had a deep love for pistachios and pomegranates—her favorite snacks that she enjoyed during quiet moments. Whether sitting on her porch or watching TV, she often reached for these treats, savoring the flavors that brought her small but joyful indulgences.

Music was another of Debbie's great loves. You could often catch her listening to her favorite tunes on her phone, lost in the rhythm of the old-school classics she held so dear. She had a deep appreciation for the music of Tupac, with “Thug Mansion” and “Broken Wings” being her absolute favorites. These songs spoke to her soul, reflecting her resilience and depth of spirit.

Debbie's greatest passion was knitting. Her hands were never idle, and she found peace in creating something beautiful and comforting for those she loved. Whether it was a pair of booties for a child or a cozy blanket for a friend, each stitch was woven with care.

Debbie also had a talent for hair braiding, a skill she enjoyed passing on to those around her. She found joy in the creativity and connection that came from styling hair, often spending hours chatting and laughing with loved ones while she worked her magic.

An intelligent woman who cherished life's simple pleasures, Debbie loved spending time with her children at the library and park. She also had a keen eye for treasures, often wandering through thrift stores and delighting in the thrill of finding something unique and special.

Deborah departed this life on September 10, 2024. She is preceded in death by her parents, Joseph (JB) and Dorothy (Dot), her brother Jason Wynn, and two grandsons, Daveah Takyren Donte Barron and Jeremiah Demetrius Kinney.

She leaves to cherish her memory three daughters: Tameca Barron, Rhonda Barron, and Tanica Stallworth; two sons: David Barron and Antonio Barron (Briana); one sister: Cindy Wynn; five brothers: William Wynn, Maurice Wynn, Benjamin Wynn, Timothy Wynn (Gladys), and William Wynn III; twelve grandchildren; and a host of nieces, nephews, and other relatives and friends.
