

To my Daughter:

I miss you with every breath I take. Your light will live forever in my heart guiding me through the dark. I had only one wish and that was for peace between us. You gave me that with the most sincere love with infant like screams for me as your pain encumbered your body. I hold your unconditional love close and will carry you with me always.

*Love forever, MOM

Obituary

Jazzmine Renata Woods found peace on December 5, 2025, in Cincinnati, Ohio, at the age of 36. She faced a four-year battle with leukemia with remarkable courage and unwavering spirit, showing incredible strength until her journey's end.

Jazzmine was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, on March 11, 1989, to her parents, Chandra Baldwin Woods and Elbert Lee "Ickey" Woods both of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Jazzmine was a radiant and irreplaceable light in the lives of everyone who knew her. Gifted, intelligent, talented, and inherently kind, her positive energy never dimmed. Affectionately nicknamed "Fluffer" as a young child, she blossomed into her name "Jazzy," as she was known for her vibrant style, compassionate heart, and uplifting wisdom.

Above all, Jazzmine's greatest joy and most cherished role was being a mother. She adored her children, ensuring each of their names held a special meaning. Jazzmine's faith was a guiding cornerstone of her life. She accepted Christ at an early age and was baptized at Ninth Street Baptist Church in Covington, Kentucky, on June 29, 1997, under the leadership of Pastor Richard B.L. Fowler. At Ninth Street she forged lifelong friendships and became a cherished member of PROVERBS and the church choir.

Jazzmine possessed an immense passion for learning and the arts. She graduated from Glen Este High School with honors and as valedictorian in 2007. Jazzmine, who also attended the School for Performing Arts, was academically brilliant and a talented communicator, proficient in both Spanish and American Sign Language. Her love for education was a gift she passed on to her children as all her offspring could read before even starting kindergarten.

Jazzmine is preceded in death by her brother, Elbert Lee Jovante Woods. She was surrounded by her loving family and lifelong friends at the Hospice of Cincinnati in Hamilton as she peacefully took her last breath.

She is survived by her five children, Kartar Nikkolas Lee Jonas, Javani Lyric Katara Savage, Khairi Zena Faye Woods Albright, Jayd Nirvana Woods Smith, Kairus Amir Woods Smith, all of Cincinnati, Ohio; her mother, Chandra Baldwin Woods and her father, Elbert "Ickey" Woods both of Cincinnati, Ohio; her siblings, Jermaine Woods (Marnie) of Eastvale, California; Amber Rhodes of Cincinnati; Allegra Woods of Scottsdale, Arizona; Aubrhee Woods of Dayton, Ohio; her grandmothers, Irene Baldwin and Sylvia Taylor of Fresno, CA; her auntie-momma, Debra Vance of Crestview Hills, Ky; aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews and a host of other relatives and friends. Jazzmine leaves behind a legacy of immense strength, boundless love, and diverse talents that will be forever cherished. Her absence will be profoundly felt by all who had the privilege of knowing her.
