You will be Missed

In God's embrace, your soul has found its peace,
From earthly trials, now granted sweet release.

Though shadows fall where once your light
did shine,
We trust in faith, your spirit's now divine.

The heavens call you to their sacred grace, While we on earth still long to see your face.

In prayer we find you in God's eternal bliss,
Forever in our hearts,
you will be missed.
