

Til We Meet Again

Dear Family and Friends

Bob D's the name, and the lottery is my thang; give me a glass of Jack Daniel's and some wood cackling by the fireside, while I sit under the starry skies, doing my camping thang. A lot of you would say I was blunt, but if you ugly, you ugly. I'm just the messenger, keeping it real. Like I said, Bobby D's the name, and family is my thang from my beautiful wife, Marlene, and my 7 wonderful children, my grandchildren, my great grandchildren, my brothers and sisters, family and friends. I will always be with you all, don't you dare drop one tear of sorrow for me because I have lived my life, and I have lived my greatest moments with my family. If I have left an impact on your life rather good or bad, that means I have done my part. That means good ole' Mr Bobby D is a legend now LOL Guess that means y'all will miss me putting y'all butts out my house. Remember to keep our memories, private talks, and time together close to your hearts. We are not saying goodbye, we are saying see you later. So dry them tears up before I put everyone out of this funeral. I have served my purpose in this world. So every time you smell the sweet aroma of Jack Daniels, the lottery machine, crackling of the campfire, and My Last Two Dollars, it just me, good ole Mr Bobby D.

Obituary

Bobby R. Dixon was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, on October 15, 1944, to the loving family of Horbert and Viola Dixon. He was the oldest of eleven children.

Bobby attended Withrow High School, where he ran Track and Field. He grew up attending Little Rock Church of God in Christ. His faith stayed with him throughout his life.

In 1965, Bobby married Irma J. Scott. This union was blessed with four children. In 1979, Bobby married Marlene McDade. This union was blessed with one child.

Bobby retired from construction work after 30 years. He enjoyed listening to his favorite Blues Singers, Johnny Taylor and B.B King, as he drove his camper down the road. He enjoyed camping with friends for many years. Bobby loved his family and spending time with his great-grandchildren. They would sing along with him his favorite song, "My Last Two Dollars." Bobby will be remembered as an outgoing, friendly, sarcastic, and funny guy by everyone who knew him.

He was preceded in death by his two sons, Bobby R. Dixon, Jr. and Terrence F. McDade. He leaves to celebrate his life: his wife of 47 years, Marlene Dixon; one son, Tyrone Dixon; four daughters, Terrell Brockman, Yolanda Dixon, Rosalind Hill, and Theresa Davis; three brothers, Norman Dixon, George Dixon, and Calvin Dixon; seven sisters, Christine Tubbs, Carol Wilson, Marquette Bowman, Patricia Hill, Elaine Bennett, Shirley Lynn, and Pam Dixon; thirteen grandchildren and twenty-four great-grandchildren; as well as a host of in-laws, nieces, nephews, cousins, and dear friends.
