ANTWINE MARKEE Conway, Sr.

ANTWINE MARKEE "TUPAC" CONWAY, SR., age 38, was born on April 2, 1988, at Truman Medical Center in Kansas City, Missouri, to Leona Conway and the late Kenneth V. Workcuff. He departed this life on September 28, 2026, at his home in Kansas City, Missouri.

Raised in the Kansas City metropolitan area, Antwine graduated from De La Salle High School in 2006, where he participated in cross country and JROTC. A man of many talents, he approached life with resourcefulness, determination, and a willingness to work hard. When something needed to be done, Antwine either knew how to do it or found a way to accomplish it. At the time of his passing, he was employed by Jiffy Lube.

Faith held a meaningful place in Antwine's life. Raised in the church, he was a longtime faithful member of Morning Star Missionary Baptist Church, where his devotion was reflected in his service. Over the years, he contributed to several ministries, including helping establish the church's security team and serving in the hospitality ministry. Serving God and caring for others were expressions of his faith and character.

Antwine had a special gift for bringing joy to those around him. His cheerful spirit, unforgettable smile, and sense of humor left a lasting impression on those who knew him. He loved dancing and shared that passion through his involvement with the Kansas City Marching Cobras, an experience that brought him many cherished memories.
Above all, Antwine treasured his family. He showed his love through his presence, his willingness to help, and his efforts to make those closest to him feel valued. Among his greatest joys was being a father to his sons, Antwine Conway Jr. and Adrian Conway. They held an irreplaceable place in his heart, and his love for them was unwavering. He also embraced his role as an uncle, holding his nieces and nephews dear.

Antwine shared a special bond with his mother, Leona, and his stepfather, David, whose love and support meant so much to him. He also cherished his close relationships with his siblings, Keanna, Keith, Aarron, and ShaQuila. Affectionately known as the "5 Heartbeats," they shared a bond strengthened by laughter, countless memories, and a deep love for one another. Antwine treasured each of them.

He was preceded in death by his father, Kenneth V. Workcuff; his maternal grandparents: Barbara Conway and Ronald Conway; his paternal grandfather, Kenneth Williams; and his uncle, Donald "Bucky" Conway.

Antwine leaves to cherish his memory his loving mother, Leona Gray (David), of Gladstone, Missouri; his paternal grandmother, Gail Workcuff-Walton (Alfred), of Kansas City, Missouri; his sons: Antwine Conway Jr. and Adrian Conway, of Kansas City, Missouri; his siblings: Keanna Conway of Arlington, Texas, Keith Conway of Grandview, Missouri, Aarron Conway (Alicia) of Kansas City, Missouri, and ShaQuila Conway of Kansas City, Missouri; his godparents: Deacon Derike Pitchford (Lisa) of Kansas City, MO; his beloved nieces and nephews, and a host of aunts, uncles, cousins, and friends.

Hey Dad,

We're so glad you were in our lives. You have always been an important person in our lives. You helped us through good times and bad times, and we appreciate everything you have done for us.

Dad, you are someone we can learn from and count on when we need support. Even when things get hard, we know that you mean a lot to us, Dad, and we will always be grateful for the love, care, and memories we share.

No matter what happens in life, you will always have a special place in our hearts because you are our dad, and we love you. Even though we may not always agree on everything, we will always love you and appreciate the things you did for us. We will always carry the lessons you taught us.

We appreciate the moments we spent together, the laughs we shared, the memories we made, and even the little things you have done that show you care.

Our dad is someone we look up to, and we hope that one day you will see that we made you proud of the young men we have become.

We know life is not always easy, and there may be times when things do not go as planned, but we know you will always know how much you mean to both of us.

We love you and will miss you very much.

LOVING TRIBUTES

Old Man,

We were more than siblings. We were The Five Heartbeats. Five hearts connected by blood, filled with love, laughter, fights, and memories that will last a lifetime.

Growing up, we fought like cats and dogs, and let's be real, Antwine got beat up a time or two! But no matter how much we fought, the love between us never changed.

Antwine, you were a piece of our childhood, a part of our story, and a heartbeat that can never be replaced.

We never imagined we would have to say goodbye so soon.

Although one of our heartbeats has gone silent here on earth, our bond will forever beat as one.

Five hearts. One bond. Endless love.

Love, Your Siblings — KKA💔S

My son, my baby boy, my heart,

There are no words to express the pain of losing you. No matter how grown you became, you would always be my baby boy and one of God's greatest blessings in my life.

There was never a time that you called me when I was not there for you. I would always be there to listen, support you, comfort you, and remind you how deeply you were loved.

I will forever cherish your smile, kindness, laughter, and the precious memories we shared. Your smile could brighten any room, and your warm heart and gentle spirit touched everyone who knew you. The love you gave left a lasting imprint on every life you touched.

If love could have kept you here, you would have lived forever. I would give anything for one more hug, one more conversation, and one more chance to hold you close and say, "I love you, baby." Though my heart is broken, I thank God for the gift of being your mother. I am grateful for every moment, every lesson, every laugh, and every memory you gave me. Your love will continue to live within me and in all who were blessed to know you.

When the grief becomes too heavy to bear, I will turn to God for strength and trust that He is embracing you in His loving arms, where you are free from pain and suffering. I will hold you close through the memories we made, the love you gave, and the quiet moments when I feel your presence nearest to my heart.

Death may have taken you from my sight, but it can never take you from my heart. Rest peacefully, my sweet Antwine. Mama loves you beyond words and will carry you forever.

Until we meet again, my baby boy.
