Love Letter from God

Beloved Daughter,

I am the God of life. I know your heart breaks when I bring one of your loved ones home to be with Me. I understand that loss because I sacrificed My only Son. However, that sacrifice means that one day all who belong to Me will have everlasting life. Death is a reminder that this is not your home; your citizenship is in heaven. You are on the earth for just a little while to further My Kingdom by telling others about the treasures I offer when they receive My Son as their Savior.

There will be a day when there will be no more death and no more tears. Then you will be with all My children and see those you loved on earth once again, and this time you will never have to say good-bye.

Love,
Your Heavenly Father
