Reflections of Life

Tyron Santino Stephenson, was born on April 21, 1978, to Marissa (Stephenson) Russell and Floyd Tate, in Cleveland, Ohio. Tyron was the oldest of four children.

Tyron was educated in the Cleveland Municipal School District, and later received his GED. He was employed at the Cleveland Browns Stadium, also did various jobs with his friend Brandon, at Y Clean Janitorial Service and Y Trucking Delivery Services.

Tyron was raised in the West Park Community Area, and grew up on Puritas, known as the back streets, where he established friendships that became a strong bond like family.

Tyron eventually left the back streets when his mother married the late Ruben Russell Sr., who took him in and raised him as if he was his own son.

Tyron was a very loving father and always stayed in touch with his children. He took pride in his children, always being a protector wanting no one to watch his babies. He was a spontaneous person, with a warm loving heart. He was a momma's boy that loved his family dearly and cherished his late grandmother affectionally known as "Gram". He was like a big kid, always enjoyed the annual family reunions, hanging out with family and friends. He loved taking long walks to clear his head, telling jokes and getting people to laugh in some way.

Tyron passed away on February 21st. He is preceded in death by his mother Marissa (Ruben) Russell, Grandmother Eva Mae Stephenson. He leaves to cherish his memory, his dad Floyd Tate, children; Tyron Jr., Cody, Skye Timothy, Tyron III, Tevin, daughters; Payt'n and True. Siblings Tynisa, Teyvis, Tyshawn, Step brother Reggie. One uncle Isaac (Ruby), Aunts Cheryl, Deborah (Roger), Beechie and Katie, one nephew Cameron, one niece Kyla. A host of family and friends that will miss him dearly.
