Obituary

Ann L. Harrison was born on June 1, 1939 to the late Clayton E. Harrison and Martha (Trevitts) Harrison. Ann enjoyed animals, magazines, puzzles, traveling and her favorite color was red. She was a dedicated staff member at the Clovernook Center for the Blind before her retirement.

Remembering Ann:

She lived in the shade of the sunrise,
In the bloom of the deepest rose.
She wore red like a banner of courage,
Everywhere that her spirit chose.
It wasn't just silk or a ribbon,
But the fire she carried within –
A heart that beat bold and unbridled,
With a joy that the world couldn't dim.
So let the poppies remember her name,
And the autumn leaves dance in her stead;
For she didn't just walk through this life,
She painted it vibrant and red.
