

There's a lonely little robin in a tree by my door and it waits for its mate to return evermore So remember, please remember, that I'm lonely too like the lonely little robin I'm waiting for you.

Now I walk alone down the trail we knew so well where we strolled together for years my cheeks are wet, and it's hard for me to tell weather it's raindrops that's falling or tears.

*There's a lonely little robin in a tree by my door
and it waits for its mate to return evermore
So remember, please remember, that I'm lonely too
like the lonely little robin I'm waiting for you.*

Oft times I wonder when night begins to fall and my heart recalls memories from outside my window I seem to hear you call but it's only the wind in the trees.

*There's a lonely little robin in a tree by my door
and it waits for its mate to return evermore
So remember, please remember, that I'm lonely too
like the lonely little robin I'm waiting for you.*

You will Forever, be my Always.
