Ode to: EDGAR CLARK in 2025 By Jay Rogers Clark (brother)

Once upon a time a long, long time ago.

A young man found his happiness; it was Carol don't you know.

They lived life of blissfulness; their quest was clear and pure.

To raise a family unto God, to make eternity sure.

Now that Carol has gone home, his heart is filled with Joy.

Knowing that his day will come, he is like a little boy.

There are no words to express, when a dear one goes away.

There are just emotions you feel, no matter what you do, or say.

The only thing that's helping, is knowing God is true, and all the tears I'm shedding, are eternally, through and through.

Cast out your noble expressions, of times you knew him best.

He's now at home with God above, he has found at last, the quest.

Never look behind, for that time, will come no more.

Only look forward, where the truth of God's love, is sure.

Gods' blessings have always found you, in your deepest times of need.

So, to all those you leave behind can say, you're happy, in thought and deed.

Now we say our found farewell, but we will never say goodbye.

We know you're going home to God; I can almost hear him sigh.

To the family and posterity of Leland Edgar Clark,

Good luck to you, in all you do, I hope he left you, a spark.
