The Train of Life

At birth we boarded the "train of life". We met our parents, and once believed that they would always travel on by our side. However, at some station our parents will step down from the train, leaving us to continue our journey alone. Other travelers will board our train and they too will be significant, siblings, friends, the love of our life, children. During our trip many of these will step down from the train at their destinations, leaving a permanent vacuum in our lives. While the departure of other passengers will go unnoticed, and we won't even realize they have vacated their seats. The train ride will be accompanied by joys, sorrows, fantasy, discoveries, expectations, hellos, and farewells. A successful journey requires that we give the best of ourselves while having as good a relationship as possible with our fellow travelers.

The great mystery to all passengers alike is this: the ticket never tells us the station where we will depart the train. Thus, we must travel through life as best we can; love, forgive and offer the best of who we are to our fellow travelers. It is important we do this because, when the time comes to leave our seat and step down from the train, we should leave beautiful memories of us for the passengers who will be continuing their journey on the train of life.

I wish you a joyful and rewarding train journey.

Reap success and give lots of love and, more importantly, thank God for the trip. Lastly, I thank you for being one of the passengers on my train.

Love & Hugs,

Mom, Beth, Betsy, Gran, Granny, Great-Granny, Great-Great Granny

In Loving Memory Of
