Psalms 23

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

2 He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.

3 He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

5 Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

6 Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

His Legacy...

Freddie Lee Williamson was born on September 11, 1962, in Jacksonville, Florida, to the late Mr. Pollard and Dorothy Williamson. He was educated in the Duval County Public School System and grew up with a deep sense of faith, generosity, and love for life.

Freddie dedicated much of his professional life to the road, working as a semi-truck driver until his retirement. Known for his giving spirit and gentle nature, Freddie was a man who found joy in the simple pleasures—being at home watching movies, riding his bike through the neighborhood, and taking countless road trips that created cherished memories with those he loved. A man of faith, he often spent quiet moments reading his Bible, which brought him peace and strength.

Fifteen years ago, Freddie married the love of his life, Angela Johnson, and together they built a loving home filled with laughter, shared adventures, and unwavering support.

Freddie leaves behind a legacy of love and compassion. He will be deeply missed by his devoted wife: Angela Williamson; his daughters: Sherena Turner (Trouvaris) and Sherese Williams (Razhee); his beloved grandchildren: Ayanna Turner, Kamari Turner, Kyra Richardson, Mai'lani Martin, and Razlen Williams; his sister: Jacqueline Williamson; his niece: De'Shawn Williamson; nephew: Darius Williamson; mother-in-law: Lillian Johnson; brother-in-law: Cecil Johnson; his special cousin and brother in spirit: LeRoy Jackson; and he also leaves behind a host of other sorrowing relatives and dear friends who will forever hold him in their hearts.

Freddie's presence was a gift to all who knew him, and his memory will continue to inspire those he touched.
