UNOFFICIAL OBITUARY VERSION 2.0

After a Fox News marathon, Edward Michael “Mike” Jeffers decided this world had lost its last screw and decided to depart the scene before he threw a total kination. He leaves behind two children, three grand-children, and the ice cream industry, for which he was an unofficial spokesman. All of whom loved him dearly and will never forget his tenacity, wit, charm (when pertinent) and his undying love and caring for them.

He left behind a hell of a lot of stuff to his daughters who have no idea what to do with it.

So if you’re looking for 2 extremely large TV’s from the 90s, two dozen air compressors, a toaster oven (slightly used) or even a 1994 Chevy Crew cab truck with a spoiler (he loved putting the pedal to the metal), with only 94,000 kilometers and 1,000 tools that we aren’t sure what they’re used for. You should wait the appropriate amount of time and get in touch. Tomorrow would be fine.

Mike volunteered for service in the United States Army at the ripe old age of 17 and immediately realized he didn’t much enjoy being bossed around.

There will be no viewing since his longtime companion, Perthena, refuses to honor his request to have him standing in the corner of the room with a glass of Crown Royal in his hand so that he would appear natural to visitors.
