LIFE Reflections

Jarvis Shaquille Rivers was born on December 28, 1993, in Charleston, South Carolina, a beloved son of Theresa Rivers and Eric E. Campbell. On Monday, October 6, 2025, Jarvis's earthly journey came to a close. Though his passing was sudden and unexpected, the memories of his vibrant spirit, contagious laughter, and joyful presence will forever live on in the hearts of all who knew and loved him.

Jarvis was educated in the Berkeley County School District and was a proud 2013 graduate of Berkeley High School, where he played football with the mighty Stags. His energy and enthusiasm—both on and off the field—made him a joy to be around.

Jarvis was baptized at Greater Emanuel A.M.E. Church, where he became a member.

Jarvis enjoyed life to the fullest and loved being outdoors—whether it was riding four-wheelers, playing football, traveling, or deer hunting. A true Chevy enthusiast, he was also proud of his work with Joe Duncan Hot Shot Trucking. He was a loyal fan of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Those who were blessed to share life's journey with Jarvis will forever treasure his memory: his mother, Theresa R. Simmons (Stephen "Theo" Simmons); his father, Eric E. Campbell; his siblings, Justin T. Simmons, Ah'Shawnek Felder, and Ah'Shontique Felder; grandmothers, Naomi Rivers and Dorothy M. Simmons; cousins who were more like siblings, Daryus Smalls, NiAsia Hazelton Smalls, and Kailend Smalls; his special friend, Unique Hayes; godmother, Yvette Richardson Shakkas; godsister, Nashabba Shakkas; godbrother, Onezean "Tay" Ravenell II; goddaughters, Genesis Ellison and Kaiya Lewis; and a devoted family friend, Maddie Fenstermaker. He will also be lovingly remembered by a host of aunts, uncles, cousins, and dear friends who will hold his memory close to their hearts.

Jarvis lived a life full of laughter, love, and loyalty—and though he is gone from our sight, his light will continue to shine in all who knew him.

Gone Too Soon

Not even a goodbye,
And only God knows the reason
Why we had to say goodbye.
Your laughter still echoes,
Your smile still shines bright,
We'll carry your memory
Every day, every night.
