Obituary

Victoria “Vicky” Jordan Stewart was born January 12, 1960 in Chicago, Illinois to the late Mildred Jordan Barnes and the late Clarence Owens. She was the youngest of three siblings; Marie Jordan Watson (Jonas Watson) and the late Anton Jordan (Marilyn Dean).

She married Leroy Stewart and they had two beautiful daughters – Victoria Angel Wharry - (Mikel Wharry) and Jasmine Stewart and one grandson – CJ Stewart. She also leaves fond memories with her niece – Vonashey Owens - Poe (Justin Poe), nephews Dr. Byron Dean (Neketta Dean) and Jarvis Watson, and not excluding her beloved cousins, grandnieces and grandnephews, and extended family.

Vicky confessed Jesus Christ as her Lord and Savior at an early age. She attended church regularly and brought her children and grandson whenever she could.

Vicky attended UIC and CSU where she achieved the Dean’s List.

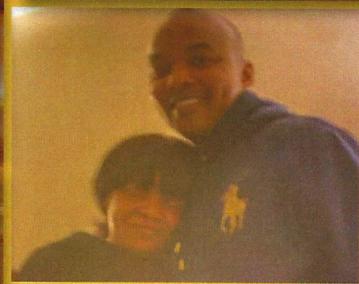

Of the many roles she held; Usher at the Paramount Theatre, Invoice Manager, teacher’s aid and chocolatier at Godiva’s...the roles she valued most was being a mother and grandmother.

She instilled in her daughters to complete their educations and travel before settling down while making sure they kept God first in their lives. She avoided drama and loved to laugh. She adored all her relatives and friends. She loved taking family trips and she was a big Bears & Eagles fan. Although she was most known for her quite demeanor, she will be most remembered for the tremendous amount of strength that she carried within her, even in her final days. May she forever rest in heavenly peace.
