George Petty

SEPTEMBER 25, 1938 - JUNE 8, 2025

George Petty, a man full of personality, laughter, and life, passed away in 2025, leaving behind a legacy that was uniquely his own. Born to the late Dorothy and Joseph Petty, George had a spirit that was bold, unforgettable, and filled with humor. He never met a stranger, and you could always count on him for a good laugh or a story that stuck with you.

He married Lois Irene Rogers Petty in 1976, and together they shared nearly five decades of love and life. George was the proud father of many children, including Masi Fears, Renée Yancey, Willie Petty Jr., Felice Floyd, Daniel Petty, Willie Sylvester Petty, Henry Petty, Adrian Sawyer, Carlos Mathis, Sharon Strong, Shantele Mathis, and Mary Foster – along with a host of others he loved deeply. He embraced family in all its forms and was also a cherished grandfather, great-grandfather, brother, uncle, cousin, and friend. He is survived by his sisters Diane and Mary Petty and was preceded in death by Joe Lewis, Georgia Mae, Sarah, and Carey Petty.

George worked faithfully for over 30 years at C & D Battery and found joy in one of his greatest passions – softball. Whether playing or serving as an umpire, the game lit him up and matched his lively, fair, and fun-loving nature. In 1993, he was baptized and became a regular publisher, faithfully sharing his beliefs.

To know George was to know someone who lived fully, laughed often, and loved in his own way. His story was complex, but his presence was powerful. He lived his way, loved in his way, and was deeply loved in return.
