Honorary Pallbearer

William Ivory (Butch)

James Norman Brown Jr. was born on April 24, 1958 in Cincinnati, Ohio to James Norman Brown Sr. and Rosie Brown who precedes him in death. James was baptized at Gaines Methodist Church. He attended Withrow High School.

James really enjoyed working with race horses and traveling with the horses. He loved to fish! He loved barbecuing and he loved the Cincinnati Bengals! James was quite a charmer in his younger days and his humor and smile made him even more lovable.

Although he was the oldest of all his siblings, his charm seemed to work on them as well. He could do no wrong in their eyes and he could call on them for anything. He always kept a smile on his face; no matter how much pain he was in.

James has seven siblings; Michelle (Ron) Durham, Jaquita (Eric) Rankins, Johnny Brown, Lawrence Brown (deceased), Darryl Brown, Darrell Brown, and Delores (Blake) McCain.

James left behind three children, Taiwana Brown, Eric Brown-Phillips, Malika (Finnis) Bonner and stepchild Robyn Phillips. He also leaves behind eleven grandchildren, one who precedes him in death, Talia Brown-James.

James leaves to cherish a special friend Jackie and his best friend William Ivory (Butch) along with a host of nieces and nephews.

~Poem~

Daddy...

Words can't express, quite how we feel,
And even though we're hurting now, our memories will help us heal,
The memories of his smile, the chuckle only "he" has,
There will never be another quite like our dad,
And although he was the eldest, he was babied by all,
He could get whatever he needed, with one phone call,
His siblings would be there, to take care of their brother,
With no hesitation, for their big, baby brother,
He was a huge Bengals fan, no matter the score,
And he also enjoyed the sport of racing a horse!
He was such a loving person, charming & charismatic,
Sure to make you laugh, almost automatic,
He loved us children, loved us all the same,
Taiwana, Eric, Malika & Robyn, the proud children of James...
He taught us girls to be women and Eric to be a man,
He even let Eric drive his dad's Monte Carlo! Man! Oh Man!
That's one of his fondest memories, something he'll cherish forever,
We will always love our dad, this bond will never sever.
He loved spending time with family & friends,
William Ivory (Butch) was there 'til the end,
We will carry on his legacy and be the children he raised,
His memory will live on...
Father, Grandfather, Son, Brother, Uncle, Cousin, Friend... James.
