- Closing Prayer Ryan Neilson, Son

He was always fixing cars, that's what great mechanics do and when the days done, he'd still help a friend or two He had a love and passion for hearing that engine roar that silly little smile as the pedal hit the floor
He taught so many students about what lies under that hood He'd offer counsel and wisdom with compassion understood He passes on a Legend, a Dad, and Grandpa too But just remember as you drive that car, he's looking back at you
