

Psalm 23

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake. Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me. Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

Amazing Grace

Amazing grace! How sweet the sound that saved a wretch like me!
I once was lost, but now am found;
was blind, but now I see.

'Twas grace that taught my heart to fear,
and grace my fears relieved;
how precious did that grace appear the hour I first believed.

Through many dangers, toils, and snares,
I have already come;
'tis grace hath brought me safe thus far,
and grace will lead me home.

When we've been there ten thousand years,
bright shining as the sun,
we've no less days to sing God's praise
than when we first begun.

Born in Abbeville, SC and a son of the late Henry Johnson Power, Sr. and Margaret Parker Power, he was the husband of Brenda Joyce O’Dell Power. Mr. Power was a dedicated educator and lifelong learner who graduated from Clemson University and received his master’s degree in mathematics from the University of South Carolina. Following a rewarding career as a statistician with the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Alexandria, VA, he then relocated to Lexington, South Carolina as State Statistician in the USDA’s South Carolina agency. He continued his passion for education by teaching mathematics at Midlands Technical College.

Outside of his professional life, Mr. Power found great enjoyment in the simple pleasures of life. He loved fishing, gardening, traveling, following the Clemson Tigers, and playing golf. Perhaps his greatest memories though were on the soccer fields and baseball fields where he watched his grandchildren, Brooke, Johnny, and Riley, play. Papa, as they called him, will always be remembered as their greatest cheerleader, math tutor, Uber driver, playmate, and overall loving grandfather.

Surviving alongside his wife of 64 years are two sons, Mark O’Dell Power of Louisville, Colorado and Henry Johnson “John” Power, III (Missy) of Charleston, three siblings, Fay Power Hancock (Chalmers) of Saluda, William Power (Cheryl) of Lexington, and Cornelia Ruth Power Edwards (Terry) of Lexington, five grandchildren, Brooke Elizabeth Power, Henry Johnson “Johnny” Power, IV, Riley Kate Power, Bailey Elizabeth Thompson, and Walker Davis Thompson, and a great-granddaughter, Raelyn Blakely Alicea.

Mr. Power was preceded in death by a brother, John Raiford Power.
