HER STORY

Adrienne Nichelle Boykin

Adrienne Nichelle Boykin, a radiant soul remembered for her infectious spirit and boundless love, was born on December 11, 1972, to her parents Harriet and Errol Boykin.

Her childhood was filled with joyful memories, notably those shared with her brother Errol Kenton Boykin, with whom she would create songs during their playful afternoons. This musicality only deepened over the years; she delighted in playing the piano and singing, nurturing a deep love for the arts. Her aunt, Wilma Boykin LeSure, fondly recalls Adrienne's memorable tap-dancing performance of "Walking in the Rain," a testament to the vivacity that characterized her youth.

Education played a significant role in Adrienne's life. A proud graduate of George Washington High School, she pursued further studies at the University of Evansville in Indiana, where she earned her Bachelor of Arts Degree. Fluent in Spanish, her devotion to the language was so profound that it graced her voice mail message, showcasing her vibrant personality and love for cultural connection.

Adrienne's professional life was marked by a decade-long dedication as a Cash Handler for Loomis Armored, where she became a beloved figure among her colleagues. Yet, her legacy extends far beyond her career. She was a woman of remarkable character, embodying a gentle disposition that reflected both perseverance and quiet strength. With unwavering determination, she navigated the challenges life presented to her, shining through adversity with an enchanting smile that had the power to light up any room.

A lifelong devotee of the Denver Broncos, Adrienne looked forward to football season with fervent anticipation, displaying loyalty that echoed beyond mere fandom. Win or lose, her heart remained steadfastly tethered to her beloved team, showcasing her boundless enthusiasm for life.

As a faithful member of the Park Hill United Methodist Church, Adrienne embraced her faith early on, and this commitment remained central throughout her life. She cherished her time spent at gatherings with her stepsister Regina M. Lee and treasured the moments shared with her friend and coworker Ileana. The joy of dining out with loved ones brought her immense happiness.

She was preceded in death by her father, Errol Boykin; her mother, Harriet Boykin; her stepmother, Othella Walker Boykin; her stepbrother, Bernard Berry; and her grandparents, Willie and Dollie Boykin.

Her assignment was fulfilled on August 15, 2025. Those who loved, treasured and hold everlasting memories include, her brother, Errol Kenton Boykin; her cousin, Jacquelyn House; her aunt, Wilma Boykin LeSure; her uncle, Eddie Gene LeSure; her stepsister, Regina M. Lee; and a cherished circle of cousins, friends, and coworkers who will forever hold her memory in their hearts.

Adrienne's Song

The Lord called her home, yet her light remains,
A gentle reminder that love sustains.
Adrienne's laughter, her smile so true,
A gift from God that will carry us through.

"She fought the good fight, she has finished the race,"
Now she beholds Him, face to face.
Her spirit rests where no shadows fall,
In heaven's embrace, where Christ is all.

So let us rejoice, though our hearts may weep,
For God has her safely, His promise to keep.
And until we're together in glory above,
We'll live in her honor, with faith and with love.
