

Poem

You were a dream we longed to hold,
A tiny spark, a heart of gold,
A whispered hope, a promised song,
A love that bloomed, though not for long.

Your hands so small, your breath so light,
A fleeting star within the night,
You came, you touched this broken earth,
And left behind your sacred worth.

A thousand kisses went unsaid,
A thousand prayers around your bed,
And though our arms feel aching bare,
We know you're cradled in God's care.

Your life, though brief, has shaped our own,
A seed of love forever sown.
Your name is carved upon our hearts,
A bond that death cannot tear apart.

We grieve, we weep, we wonder why,
But faith will lift our tear-streaked eyes-
For we believe beyond this pain,
We'll one day hold you close again.

So rest, dear angel, soft and free,
Your soul has found its melody.
And in each heartbeat, every sigh,
You are our whisper of the sky.

Natalie Joy Scott Tovar

April 19, 2025 - April 25, 2025

Our sweet Natalie Joy Scott Tovar, born on April 19, 2025, in Waco, Texas, was called to Heaven on April 25, 2025. In her few precious days with us, she filled our hearts with a love beyond measure and a joy that will live on forever.

Natalie was the beloved daughter of Ravo Scott and Homero Tovar, Jr., and a treasured little sister to Luke Jean, Lance Jean, Isabella Tovar, emma Tovar, and Aiden Tovar. She was the adored granddaughter of Mille Scott, Lloyd Scott, Maria Puente, and Homero Tovar. Natalie was deeply loved by a large and caring family of aunts, uncles, and cousins, all of whom eagerly awaited her arrival and will forever carry her memory in their hearts.

Though her time on Earth was brief, Natalie's life was filled with meaning and a light that touched everyone who knew her. She was a reminder of pure love, of hope, and of the preciousness of each moment.
