

Margene wrote this for her daughter, Larinda, that died of cancer in 1975.
But it also expresses so beautifully our feelings for our Mom at her passing.

God saw you were getting tired
and a cure was not to be,
so He put His arms around you
and whispered, "Come with me."

He knew you were suffering, that the days were getting hard, so He gently closed your eyelids and whispered "Peace be thine".
In tears we watched you sinking,
we watched you fade away.

O, our hearts were nearly broken, you fought so hard to stay.

It broke our hearts to see you go,
but you did not go alone, for part of us went with you the day God called you home.

He broke our hearts to prove to us
He only takes the best.

God saw you were getting tired
and a cure was not to be,
so He put His arms around you
and whispered, "Come with me."

With tearful eyes we saw you struggle to keep a steady pace,
You ran with courage, strength and faith
To finish out the race.

Your loving heart stopped beating your spirit now is free.
We will keep the course you set for us

to live eternally.
