

Acknowledgements of Appreciation

Even tho we lost Michael, we gained Miy'Ku
But I still wasn't prepared to lose you
You're my rock, my sunshine, my superwoman, my ace
So, you should know I'm in an empty place
We just lost daddy and that hurt us bad
But Just knowing you were here kept me glad
Now I'm empty, lonely and blue
I can't be strong, I can't carry on
I need you here with me to help me through
You cheering on the front line like "you got this boo"
.... Like you always do?
Through the cold and the dark you kept me warm and bright
So, I'm still waiting up on ya call to get me through the night
My queen, my backbone was taken from me and pain and emptiness is all it'll be
But I'm standing here just to say.
Until we meet again my FAVORITE girl
For You? Your real ones, gon show the WORLD!
This is deeper than words can explain
but I'll guess I'm living until the day
We meet again. My QUEEENNNNNN??????

Obituary

Theresa Ann Harris, 60, gained her wings on November 20, 2019 at Hershey Medical Center, Hersey, PA surrounded by her family. She was born on March 11,1959.

Theresa was raised by her grandmother, Addie Lee Davis. She was the oldest of four children, Robert Davis, Donna Laster-Ali, and Donald Laster. Everyone who knew her, knew she was destined for greatness, in whatever she wanted to accomplish in her life.

She loved family things. So, you can only imagine the love she would give to the six children to which she gave birth. Theresa’s children meant the world to her. Therefore, when five of her children went on to have children of their own, there wasn’t any exception to the attention and love she gave to her fourteen grandchildren. She would have given this attention to the newest addition to her family, the first great grandchild she never got to meet. Theresa never had the chance to embark on the extended family tree of being a great grandmother.

Theresa, Tee-Tee, Mrs. Tee, Aunt Tee, Mama Tee, or whatever name people would call her, was known for her loving spirit, admiring compliments, corny jokes, off key singing, fun and free spirit, and having the ability to light up whatever room she was in. She was super loved and will be deeply missed to those who came in contact with her.

She was predeceased by her mother, Lynn Davis; loving husband, Michael Harris; and one brother, Donald Laster, grandfather, Thomas Leo Davis, Sr., uncle, Thomas Leo Davis, Jr.

She will continue to be celebrated by her children, Shemeika Brown-Manns of Pittsburgh,PA, Shemeira Harris of Asbury Park, NJ, She’Quiera Harris of Hummelstown, PA, She’Quelle Harris of Harrisburg, PA, Sheau’Lynne Harris of Lemoyne, PA, and She’Neirah Harris of Harrisburg, PA with her husband of 37 years Michael Harris; 14 grandchildren; 1 great grandchild; siblings, Robert Davis and Donna Laster-Ali; 2 cousins, Thomas Leo Davis II and Jason Kier Davis; grandmother, Addie Davis; special aunt, Ollie Parker, mother in law, Glendora Harris; devoted and very loyal best friend, Nina Simmons; and a host of other relatives and friends.
