

A FATHER'S LEGACY

A father's legacy, cherished and dear
Through his love and wisdom, we have no fear
He was our protector, our guiding light
And in his absence, our hearts feel a slight
But his legacy lives on in all that we do
In every decision, we consider his view
His values, his morals, his unwavering belief
In us, his children, is now our greatest relief
For though he may be gone, his love still shines bright
Guiding us towards what is good and what is right
His legacy will remain, an everlasting flame
In our hearts, our father's memory will forever proclaim.

REMEMBERING TOMMIE

With grateful hearts for a life well lived, we celebrate the life and legacy of Tommie Stevenson, who peacefully departed this life on July 27, 2026, at the age of 87.

Born on June 26, 1939, in Winnsboro, South Carolina, Tommie was the son of the late Wardell and Estelle Stevenson. He received his education in the public schools of Winnsboro, SC. After completing his education, Tommie moved to Alexandria, Virginia, where he began building his adult life alongside his siblings. He was raised with the values of hard work, perseverance, and faith, principles that guided him throughout his life.

Tommie worked a variety of jobs before establishing his career as a Chief Engineer. He also proudly owned and operated Metro Whole Seller, a building supplies company. Through hard work, perseverance, and dedication, he built a life devoted to providing for his family, believing that love was best shown through responsibility, sacrifice, and steadfast support.

A devoted Christian, Tommie's faith remained a constant source of strength throughout his life. He found life's greatest blessings in his faith, his family, and time they shared together. He especially enjoyed taking his family on weekend outings to amusement parks, creating traditions and memories that would be cherished for years to come. In his later years, he found peace in watching Sunday morning church services, completing puzzles, and never missed an opportunity to cheer on his beloved Dallas Cowboys during the football season. A devoted Christian, Tommie's faith remained a constant source of strength. In his later years, he enjoyed watching Sunday morning church services, working puzzles, and spending time with those he loved most. When his children were young, some of their happiest memories were the weekends spent together at amusement parks, creating traditions that would last a lifetime. A loyal Dallas Cowboys fan, Tommie faithfully cheered on his team every season.

Though he was a man of few words, his quiet strength spoke volumes. He was known for his generous heart, unwavering resilience, playful sense of humor, and deep love for his family. Those who knew Tommie will remember his steady presence, willingness to help others, and the quiet example of integrity he left behind.

For the final ten years of his life, Tommie made his home in Clinton, Maryland, where he was lovingly cared for by his daughter, Tracy Hunter, and her husband, Lamont. He was also blessed by the friendship and support of Gracie Johnson, the mother of two of his children, who remained a valued part of his extended family and a steadfast source of support throughout his later years.

Tommie was preceded in death by his parents, Wardell and Estelle Stevenson, and all his siblings: Eddie Clark, Dess Wanzer, Alice Boykins, George Stevenson, Wardell Stevenson, Rebecca Johnson, and Charlie Stevenson.

He leaves to cherish his memory his children, James Hastings (Betty), Tanya Conner, Tony Stevenson and Tracy Hunter (Lamont); his beloved grandchildren, Kacey (Marcus), Ryan, LaMia, Tierra, Ashley, Yanique, David and Ryan; along with a host of great-grandchildren, nieces, nephews, extended family members, dear friends, and all whose lives were blessed by his kindness, generosity, and quiet strength.

Tommie's legacy is not measured by the words he spoke, but by the life he lived. His unwavering faith, enduring strength, generous spirit, and unconditional love for his family will continue to inspire all who were blessed to know him.

"The righteous man walks in his integrity; blessed are his children after him."
— Proverbs 20:7
