REMEMBERING THE LIFE AND LEGACY OF

Jerrie LYNETTE WILLIAMS

In loving memory of Jerrie Lynette Williams, Sunrise February 4, 1974, in Las Vegas, Nevada and Sunset April 18, 2026, in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Jerrie was a loving daughter, mother, grandmother, sister, and friend whose presence brought warmth and strength to all who knew her. She showed up for her family in ways that mattered, offering love, care, and support throughout her life.

She was preceded in death by her beloved parents, Laverne Smith-Caldwell and Otto Carr Jr., as well as her siblings Herbert Williams Jr., Pamela Williams, Lenora Carr, Mahalia Carr and Cynthia Howard.

She leaves to cherish her memory her loving children: Sham'Bre Golsten and her husband Demondre Golsten Jr., Sha'Rhod Williams, and Shaki'Bre Starnes and her husband Tavonte Starnes. She was a proud and loving grandmother to Shamarion Scott, Demondre Golsten Jr., Syion Scott, Sarion Scott, Samaria Scott, Sha'Rhod Williams Jr., and Shakir Starnes. Jerrie is also survived by her siblings Anthony Williams, Shakiva Williams, Belinda Daniels, Juanita Clifton, Valerie Hunter, Monique Bonton, and Bridgette Hunter, along with a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, and extended family who will continue to honor her legacy.

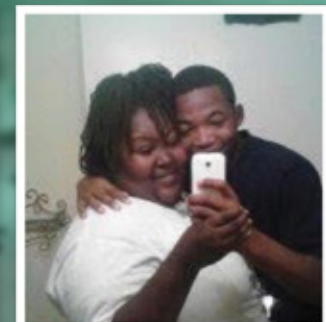

Jerrie had a deep love for writing and journaling. Oh, the stories she could tell. She found peace and purpose in putting her life experiences into words, often creating heartfelt books dedicated to her mother and her children.

Her faith was the foundation of her life. She loved the Lord deeply and remained committed to her spiritual walk. No matter what she faced, she carried God in her heart. Her grandmother, Henrietta, played a meaningful role in instilling those values in her.

Jerrie was also known for her strong drive and determination when it came to making a way for herself and her family. She believed that being broke was not an option, and she had a natural gift for finding ways to make money. Whether through her creativity, hustle, or mindset, she could sell just about anything. Her way of thinking was truly one of a kind!

Above all, Jerrie loved her family. She was known for constantly uplifting and bragging on her children and grandchildren. Even during difficult times, she always found a way to give, support, and show up for others in need. Her strength, generosity, and unwavering love will never be forgotten.

HONORING THE LIFE AND LEGACY OF

Jerrrie LYNETTE WILLIAMS

First Born Sham'Bre

I was your first kid 17 years apart was you ready? Who really ever is? I came at a time when you were still figuring out life a life without your sister (they say that changed you) still learning yourself, still trying to become the new you. Life and death will change the strongest person. Through the pain and trying to stay sane life kept moving and loving me meant making a decision most people would never understand. You let Grandma raise me not because you didn't love me, but because you loved me enough to make sure I had what you couldn't give. That kind of love isn't loud but It's sacrifice always spoke to me. And even then you never left me. You were still there, in the background, in the phone calls, in the moments that mattered, in the trying and that's all I ever wanted I saw your struggles. I saw you fight through things you never even spoke on. Trying to find your way, trying to stand on your own, trying to be someone you hoped I'd be proud of. And I was watching not for perfection, but for you. I saw the good in you even when life tried to cover it up. I saw the hustler in you (the best trait you could pass down to me) the way you refused to stay down, the way you could make something out of nothing, the way being broke was never an option because you had too much fight in you. You taught me strength without even realizing it. Being your first born meant seeing the real you all of you not just a mother, but a woman learning, growing, falling and getting back up. And through it all... I never stopped loving you even if I had to show you tough love Because I understand now you did the best you could with what you had. And you still made sure I was taken care of, still made sure you showed up I was your first... and you were my lesson in strength. And I am proud proud to be your daughter, proud of your fight, proud of your story which can never end because through me and your grandkids the sequel begins ...

Hey mama, I'm missing you dearly, I wish you didn't have to leave us so soon. We had so much to look forward to together. I will cherish every single memory of you. I will miss you calling me at 10:17 every day. I will miss your laugh and you bragging about me to random people. I will miss you talking for 30 minutes straight without stopping lol. I will miss riding around the whole city blasting music with you. I will miss calling you when I'm excited, when I'm sad, when I'm angry. You always listened, you always cared, you always made me feel better. I will miss listening to you read your books to me. I will miss you just always being Jerrrie. I have so many other things I will miss, but I will keep your memory alive. I will still do everything we talked about & I'm happy you can be with me every step of the way. I'm happy you get to rest in love with all of our family in heaven. I will write to you, I will dream about you, & I will make sure Shakir knows his grandma loved him very much. I love you with all my heart.

-Your Little Helper- Shaki'Bre

Jerrrie! My Mother In Law, there are so many things I can say but I just want to give you your flowers. I thank you for the love you gave me, I thank you for having my incredible wife Sham'Bre, and I thank you for all the lessons you shared with me and your grandchildren. You were an amazing human being, you had a huge impact in our lives. To only be 52 years old, you truly lived your life to the fullest, you were so outgoing and made every moment count! Whether it was your laughter you shared, or the stories you told. You just didn't live life you embraced it and in doing so, you taught me what it means to really live. I am going to miss seeing you and I'm definitely going to miss talking to you but I'm grateful for the memories we created they would last 4eva and I will hold onto them tight, You will definitely be missed and 4eva loved. That will neva change

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Family of Jerrie Lynette Williams would like to express their sincere appreciation and gratitude for all prayers and acts of kindness they received during this very difficult time.

Perhaps you sent a lovely card
or sat quietly in a chair;

Perhaps you sent a floral spray,
if so, we saw it there.

Perhaps you spoke the kindest words
as any friend could say;

Perhaps you were not there at all just thought of us that day.

Whatever you did
to console our hearts,
We thank you so much,
whatever the part.
