Erma Jean MOORE

Sister Erma Jean was born on January 8, 1955 in Houston, Tx. to Louis and Ann Moore.

Sister Erma Jean was a beloved sister, mother, gigi/granny, aunt cousin, and friend whose life was defined by love, faith and service. A devoted companion to many, she carried herself with quiet strength and unwavering dedication her family and community.

As the eldest child, Erma Jean embraced responsibility early in life. She faithfully followed her parents guidance, helping to care for her siblings and nurture their home. Known for her gentle spirit, she was quiet and respectful student who attended Booker T. Washington during the era of segregation.

Erma Jean shared a special bond with her close friends, Wilma Jean Bishop and Vertie "Pie" Thomas. Together, they were affectionately known as "The Three Musketeers," a testament to their enduring friendship and unity.

A woman of deep and abiding faith, Erma Jean was a diligent servant of the Lord. She dedicated much of her life to her church, Friendship Temple of Truth, where she served as secretary at a young age. She was also a longtime member of Pilgrim Rest Missionary Baptist Church before later making West Tabernacle her church home. There, she faithfully served as a pastor's aide and worked on the kitchen committee, always willing to lend a helping hand.

Erma Jean was known for her nurturing spirit and her love for children. She was a caring and knowledgeable matron who touched the lives of many young people. Her passion for caring for others extended into her professional life, where she spent many years working with the Conroe School District, continuing to uplift and guide children.

On March 18, 2026, Sister Erma Jean peacefully transitioned from this earthly life and earned her heavenly wings, entering into eternal rest surrounded by the love and grace she so faithfully shared with others throughout her life.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Deacon Louis Moore and Deaconess Ann Moore; her sister, Marva Lewis Fisher (Johnny Ray); her daughter, Willieshka Monique Brown; and her granddaughter, Princess Je'Annicia Rodquel Myers.

She leaves to cherish her loving memory her children, Annicia Yolunda Moore, Louvasious Devon Moore (Amy), and Eric Steele (bonus son); her siblings, Louis Moore Jr. (Doris), Debra Sheree Moore, Eunice Marie Moore, and Jo Ann Moore; and a host of grandchildren: Prince, Xavier (Destinny), Devon, Destiny, Justice, Aaroniece, Caleb, Talayia, Anaja, Armani, Zayla, Amauri, Za'Niyah, along with a multitude of nieces, nephews, great-grandchildren extended family, and friends.

Sister Erma Jean's light will continue to shine in the hearts of all who knew and loved her. Her legacy of faith, compassion, and service will forever remain a guiding presence to those she leaves behind.
