Allen had the blessing of being raised by his mom "grandmother" Selazie Linklater for the majority of his youth, where he was taught all his wisdom and land knowledge from. As well as becoming a young adult in Winnipeg with his mom Catherine and "Pops" Ralph Wescoup. He became a big brother to Bradley and was always proud to be a big brother. They'd always be a mischievous duo when reunited. Allen's family grew with Peter Sinclair's children who he instantly loved and cherished throughout his life. He was blessed with a "Lil Sis" in 1992 and couldn't have been more joyed with the addition to the family. Allen's pride and joy though were his children Jared, Hope, Blake, Chasity and Whitecloud. Allen's heart was so big, everyone was family to him and his love for family had no barriers.

Allen worked at Missinippi Construction Ltd. and later found his calling for hunting, trapping and fishing – and eventually getting into commercial fishing. Allen was an artist; he had the skills of a beader and a painter. His one-of-a-kind stories were a gift to listen to. He enjoyed being surrounded by friends and family whether it be in the North or down South in Manitoba. He never stayed in one spot and was always up to help everyone. Allen always enjoyed life to the fullest, no matter what situation he was in. As a residential school survivor and the all-hardships life puts someone through, Allen will be remembered for his big smile and his never-ending love for everyone.
