

If I Had a Miracle

As I sit and watch you breathe I ask myself again why do bad things happen to good men.

I'm grateful for another day But I'm not sure you want to continue to live this way!

And then the question yet again Why bad things happen to good women and men

But in my heart I know the principles are true and Enduring to the end sure describes you

So I sit here and watch you breath days passing into years and still I don't want you to leave

If I had a miracle?
And it was mine to give away,
I'd give it to you without hesitation Knowing it would help you stay.

But if you didn't want the miracle because the fight you fought is done and the miracle was keeping you from a face to face with the Son.

Your life has been a miracle
From the day your heart started to beat.
And after years of trials and suffering It's death we cannot cheat

I know Forever is in our future
After we knock on Christ's door, Just remember what I've said
"I always love you more". -By Stan Summers
