

Obituary

Ophelia "Faye" Garcia Jimenez was born on May 29, 1941, in Otto, Texas, to Elojia Fernandez and Joe M. Garcia.

After meeting and marrying the love of her life, Paul (Pablo) Jimenez, they built a beautiful life together and were blessed with seven children. Faye was a devoted wife, mother, and homemaker who found joy in the simple pleasures of life. She loved playing Bingo, taking drives down 9th Street to admire the houses, and spending time around the round table at home surrounded by her family. Faye was truly the rock of her family—caring, strong, and deeply loving.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Pablo Jimenez; her parents; grandsons Joseph Sanchez and Eric Guerrero; and many beloved siblings.

Faye is survived by her sister, Anita Aguilar; her children, Jesse Garcia, Deanna Palacios and husband Lorenzo, Ruby Sandoval, Joe Jimenez and wife Della, Rose Marie Luna and husband Jose, Anna Marie Guerrero and husband Diego, and Christina Jimenez and husband Chris. She also leaves behind a legacy of love through her 26 grandchildren, 59 great-grandchildren, and 7 great-great-grandchildren. Faye's memory will live on in the hearts of all who knew and loved her.

*A crown of grace upon her brow, A heart that taught us love somehow, Through every storm, through every year, Her voice, her touch, her presence near.
Mother so gentle, yet steadfast and strong, Her wisdom a melody, steady and long.
She built our world with tender hands, And shaped our hearts to understand.
Grandmother's laughter, warm and bright, Turned ordinary days to light.
Her stories wrapped in golden thread, Still whisper softly where she led.
Great-grandmother, keeper of time, Her legacy a sacred rhyme. Each generation, her love would sow, In every smile, her spirit grows.
Great-great-grandmother, our family's crown,
Her memory never will fade down. Through us, her royal heart will reign, Our Queen in love, beyond all pain.
Her throne is built of faith and grace, Her kingdom lives in every face.
Though heaven holds her, shining high, Her reign continues—never goodbye.*
