Edna MAE ADAMS

Edna Mae Adams, 88, of Chicago, Illinois, passed away June 30th, 2026 with family by her side.

Edna was born June 10, 1938, in Memphis, Tennessee to Nancy and James Osborne Sr. who preceded her in death, along with both husbands Chester Winn and Harold Adams and her siblings Frances, Marion, James Jr., Dorothy, and Cleo. Edna was the youngest.

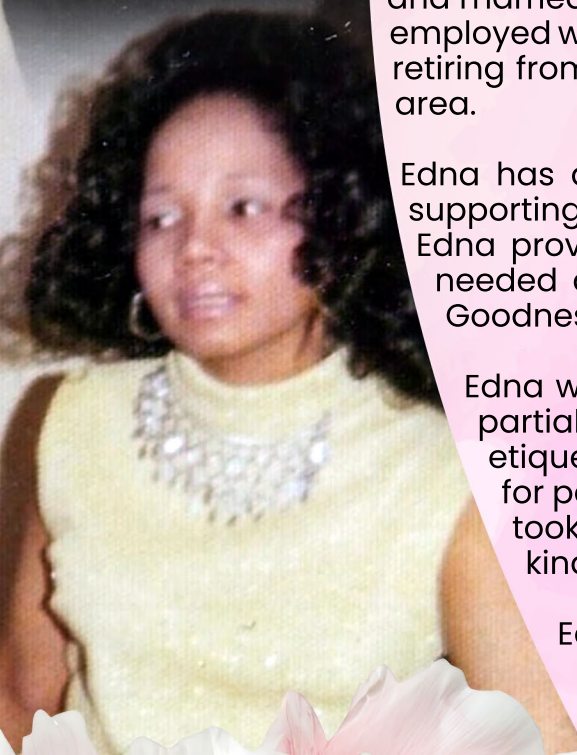

Edna attended Booker T. Washington High School in Tennessee. After high school Edna worked as a model for various Tennessee Social Clubs. Edna met and married Chester Winn.

Edna relocated to Chicago, IL. with her son Tyrone. In Chicago Edna met and married Harold Adams. and her family continued to grow. Edna was employed with the Chicago Health Department for twenty-five years. After retiring from CHD Edna worked at several Funeral Homes in the Chicago area.

Edna has a selfless soul; she was by your side at the drop of a hat, supporting many; she opened her home if you needed a place to stay. Edna provided comfort for the sick, a smile to the sad, a push when needed and a good word to the lost. Her favorite saying was "The Goodness of God, The Faithfulness of God and the Love of God".

Edna was known as the second mother to youth on Oakwood Blvd., partially from the Brown family, she helped school them on social etiquette. Edna made dresses for the girls' prom and graduation for part-time income. Edna was a loving neighbor and mother; she took care of her family. Edna will be forever remembered for her kind and giving heart.

Edna was preceded in death by her parents, her siblings, both husbands, her son: Harold Adams Jr. She leaves to cherish her memories, her sons Tyrone (Virginia) Adams, Danny Adams. Grandchildren: Danny Jr., Dionte, Destiny, Christopher and Harold, great grandchildren, nieces; Anne Beatty, Frances Williams, and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins and friends.

Tributes

"Our Love For U"

Our love for you is like a sky with shields that soar and hope that fly.
It has the tenderness of Spring,
the everlasting warmth it brings.
It has the simpleness of stone it shields us from ever being alone.
Is never ending forever new it will forever live on our love for you.

Your son Danny Ray Adams and Iiska

We said goodbye to our loved one
Whose time on earth was done.
We have faith your joy in Heaven
Has begun.

We celebrate your life, your love
All the blessings from your days
The happiness you gave us
In countless ways...

And now our hearts can smile forever
In remembrance true and deep,
For our memories of you are
Miracles we will keep.

Tyrone and Virginia
