"Rebecca Green Journey"

Psalm:23

The LORD is my shepherd, I Lack Nothing.
He makes me lie down in green pastures, he leads me beside quite waters, he refreshes my soul. He guides me along the right path for his name's sake.

Even though I walk through the darkest valley, I will fear no evil, for you are with me; your rod and your staff, they comfort me.
You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies. You anoint my head with oil; my cup overflows,
Surely your goodness and love will follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the LORD forever.

Rebecca Green was born on January 5, 1927, to the late Joe and Mary Sheppard.
Rebecca was educated in West Broad Street School system. She worked at Telfair Hospital as a housekeeper. Rebecca also worked at Chatham County Public School and the Pink House as a cook.

Rebecca was a member of Central Independence Church. She later became a member and and (daughter) Rebecca Robinson.

She leaves to continue her legacy a host of grandchildren, great grandchildren, and great great grandchildren. She had a host of nieces, nephews, cousins and friends.

In Loving Memory

In a world that moves too fast, you were my gentle pause, with laughter like sunshine and love without a cause. You didn't play when it came to your kin. Strong like the roots of the faith you stood in. We'd sit and watch your stories unfold, soap operas and game shows, timeless and bold, side by side, on your worn-in-couch, the world felt softer, safe and sound, Sunday mornings dressed in our best, church pews and hymns, your spirit at rest. I watched you pray; I watched you cook, with every glance, you wrote love in my book. Now the chair is empty, your voice is still and grief rushes in where love used to fill. But even in sorrow, I hold you near, in every laugh, in every tear. Because you were joy and you were grace, a light that time cannot erase. And though you're gone, your spirit stays, in family ties and quiet days. So, here's to you, with the love unspoken, with hearts wide open and still a bit broken. A life well lived, a soul set free. Rest easy now, Grandma.

A Tribute

In Memory of Grandma

Memories grow and memories fade, but memories of my grandmother will never drift away. Your smile live within my own. Your hands guided mine as we sewed. Your love fills my heart; your spirit flows through my soul. Grandma, you are the foundation of who I am. Though you are no longer here, your legacy will continue to live on everlasting love.

-Elaine Green

If Flowers Grow in Heaven

If flowers grow in heaven, Lord, then pick a bunch for me. Then place them in my grandmother's arms and tell her they're from me. Tell her that I love and miss her and when she turns to smile, place a kiss upon her cheek and hold her for a while. Because remembering her is easy, I do it every day, but there's an ache within my heart that will never go away. God called you home, your journey's through, but heaven gained a soul so true. Your faith, your love, your gentle way, will guide us still from day to day. We'll meet again where angels sing, In heaven's peace, eternal spring.

Thank You, Grandma Beck

Thank you for laughter that filled every room, for turning grey skies into blooms, for stories on TV and the ones you lived, for every quiet moment, every gift you gave. You showed us strength wrapped in grace, a fierce protector with a soft embrace. You stood for family, firm and true, and taught us love in all you'd do. Thank you for church on Sunday mornings, for whispered prayers and gentle warnings, for letting me stand close as you cooked with care and showing me faith just by being there. Your voice still echoes through my mind, "Baby, it will be alright," so kind. Thank you for coloring even the dulllest days, for word puzzles and laughter, your special ways. Though you've gone where I can't see, your lessons live inside of me. In every hug, in every grace, in every memory time won't erase. So, I say thank you, through the tears, For the warmth, the wisdom, the golden years. A life like yours was pure and bright, a beacon of love, our guiding light.

Grandmom

Today, we honor the life and legacy of my 98-year-old grandmother. Though our time together came later in life, the love and wisdom she poured into me was priceless. I thank God for the calls we shared, the laughter, and the bond that will forever live in my heart. Her passing reminds us that life is but a vapor, yet her faith, resilience and love remain a foundation we as a family are charged to build upon together. May we carry her legacy forward with grace, unity and faith in the Lord, who now holds her in HIS eternal care. God is not through with us yet!

Rest peacefully, Grandmom. Until we meet again.
