

23rd Psalm

The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures,
He leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul.

He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death,

I will fear no evil; for thou art with me;
Thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me
in the presence of mine enemies;
Thou anointest my head with oil;
my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life;

And I will dwell in the house of the LORD forever.

Obituary

Sandra J. Gibson was born on August 18, 1947, in Louisville, KY. She was raised by the late Sara A. Brock and Andrew J. Hendrick. She grew up in Evanston and attended Withrow High School. Due to the riots of '68, her class was not able to have a graduation ceremony.

On September 16, 1972, she married Darwin L. Gibson and had two children, Parnell and Duane. During those years, she worked in the medical field. They separated, and she went on to raise her sons. She also worked for Llanfair Retirement Community in the '90s.

Sandra's favorite pastime was sports. She was the ultimate Reds and Bengals fan. Anytime the teams were on TV or the radio, she was tuned in, and her favorite phrase for the Reds was, "And this one belongs to the Reds." Sandra also liked to do volunteer work. She was on the Millvale Council for many years in the '90s. She also loved her music, especially from back in the day when they didn't cuss. If a song came on that she liked, she would be clapping her hands, bobbing her head, and she would be on her feet dancing.

Sandra leaves to cherish her memory: her sons, Parnell and Duane Gibson; granddaughter, Kiaunda Gibson; great-granddaughter, Gail Patton; great-grandsons, Kamari and Khyren Gibson; good friends, Ester Wilbourn and The'resa Weems; and countless cousins and friends.
