

My Mom is a feeling
She is a safe.

She's what makes this world a better place.

She is what is love, to dismiss the grit from the day.
What joy she brings to me, when you feel like you're floating far away.

She is also a gift, barring tools to live from day to day.
Mom is wow turned upside down, no matter what she made a way.

She's a Queen always
My mother was a chilling feeling
A Somber Lake.

She is a frenzy that kept me on my toes.
She is a sore that never heals
A story she is, grained into my memory.
Words going off in my ears.

Mom is a bond that could never break the bending and twisting only helps to make, some stronger and pretty unique for words sake.

She is a shadow in the night and the hope of joy coming in the mornings lite.

She hugged me on bended knee.
The quiet and the storm.

She was starving when we were eating.

She was to me Woman King
A solid ring.
A strong heart

A kind of person to put my fears in the dark.

I called her Mom! when I was ok

Mommie.... when I felt more of a little version of me.
Momma. if I was calling.

And Sweet Lady if I felt her hurting.

In all variations of Mother she proved better than any other. And that's why I will always love her.

Dear mommie. Her name was Shirley.

CELEBRATING THE LIFE AND LEGACY OF

Shirley
ANN
FRAZIER

DECEMBER 16, 1950 - MAY 13, 2026

Shirley Ann Frazier

From the humble beginnings of Camden, Arkansas, Shirley Ann Frazier's life was a testament to love, strength, and devotion. Born to Robert Lee and Lessia Ree Frazier, Shirley was the second of five siblings, a role she embraced with the nurturing heart of a mother from an early age. Her family remembers a childhood marked by care and responsibility—whether protecting her younger siblings or braving work at just seven years old. Tommy Lee recalls with tenderness how young Shirley bravely endured a burn from homemade syrup, a small yet vivid snapshot of her resilient spirit; Mary Alice and Janet speak warmly of her gentle care and comforting presence, while Robert Jr. treasures how she stood by him through life's trials, never locking him out of her heart.

Her formative years saw Shirley thrive within the halls of Manual High School, graduating in 1969. She blossomed in a myriad of activities—from swimming and dance clubs to choir and clubs in French and Theater—her spirit alive with ambition and joy. The class of '69 carried her hopes forward as she pursued a Bachelor of Arts at the University of Northern Colorado, completing her degree in 1974 and furthering her skills at the Emily Griffin Opportunity School with studies that spanned pattern drafting, nutrition, and health professional skills.

Shirley's journey was enriched by love and family, she was admired for her zest for life - cooking, dancing, and her dedication to church. Later, her marriage to Lurvertis Wiggins added further chapters to her story, each woven with the warmth and strength that defined her.

Her children remember Shirley as amazing, smart, endlessly curious, and deeply loving. They speak of her as a healer—both in heart and home—a maker of potions for hair, plants, and health, combining nature's elements with her tender hands and keen mind. Her laughter and smile remain etched in their memories as symbols of love, growth, forgiveness, and truth.

Among treasured recollections is a testament to her unwavering support—when her children found themselves stranded in Oklahoma, she arrived in the middle of the night without reproach, offering only care and a safe ride home. Her daughter Kenyada Lessa Frazier, who lovingly guarded Shirley's honor, echoes the deep respect that surrounded her.

Grandchildren Raë, Rayn, Olivia, and Eden carry forward her legacy of love. Raë fondly remembers cherished weekends filled with cooking, music, homemade meals, and shared moments that felt wrapped in warmth and belonging—simple yet profound joys that conveyed the depth of Shirley's love.

Professionally, Shirley's hands and heart served many—as a licensed practical nurse, a seamstress for friends and church members, and later as a caregiver who touched lives until her final days. Co-workers remember her brightening any room with song, dance, and good humor, her church choir visits a special gift of harmony and joy.

At Good Shepherd Baptist Church, Shirley's faith shone brightly as choir director, usher, and kitchen helper—roles she embraced with selfless devotion. Her spirituality was a living force, reflected in her love for Bible study, singing, dancing, and helping others freely and wholeheartedly.

In quieter moments, Shirley enjoyed drawing, furniture modeling, nurturing plants, indulging in sweets, and most of all, sharing laughter and heartfelt conversations with family and friends. Lifelong friendships—from childhood friends Violet, Rose, Mailee, and Anita to those met along life's journey like Kim Caldwell—stand as testaments to her generous spirit and enduring connections.

Violet Price recalls how Shirley's protective nature was evident even in the busiest moments, and how small advice—like taking vitamins all at once—still lingers in fond remembrance. Shirley was a safety net, a beacon of care, a constant thread of love woven into the fabric of all who knew her.

Shirley Ann Frazier—a woman of grace, resilience, joy, and boundless love. Her story lives on in the hearts she touched, the family she nurtured, and the countless lives brightened by her presence. Though her physical journey has ended, her spirit dances on in memory and in the love she so generously shared.

She is preceded in death by her parents, Robert L. and Lessie R. Frazier; daughter, Kenyada L. Frazier.

Shirley Ann Frazier departed this life to the embrace of the Lord on May 13, 2026, leaving to cherish her memory her children, Robert I. Fraizer and Sharna L. Fraizer; her siblings, Tommy Lee Pace, Mary Alice Reed, Janet L. Frazier, and Pastor Robert L. (Wanda) Frazier, Jr; grandchildren, Rae, Rayn, Olivia and Eden, a host of nieces, nephews, other relatives and many friends.
