

*A husband, a father, a grandpa so dear.
In three different ways, you are still living here.
We see your reflection in all that we do.
The love that you planted keeps growing anew.
They remember the stories you loved to repeat.
The way that you smiled from your favorite seat.
You built up a family with strong, quiet grace.
No passage of time can corrupt or replace.
We hear your advice when the choices are hard.
We see your hard work in the house and the yard.
You loved us completely, through laughter and tears.
Your three greatest roles will endure through the years.*
