

Though they're not with us in body,
Their love remains alive and strong,
Their memory lives on within us,
Guiding us as we move along.

They may be gone from sight,
But they'll always be in our hearts,
Their laughter and their kindness,
Forever a cherished part.

In the quiet of the night,
When we're feeling all alone,
We know that they are watching over us,
Guiding us with love unknown.

So hold onto the memories,
And let them fill you with pride,
For though your loved ones have left this world,
Their love will always reside.

May their spirit live on in you,
As you cherish the moments shared,
And may their love continue to inspire you,
Even though they're no long there.
