O My Father

Closing Prayer Robert Horton - Son-in-law

She's a Mother

She gave birth to none, but mothered many
Michele, Nicholas, Tamara and Amy
Tammy, Diane, Kristen and Ilene too
Lynne Mikayla and Tanea Magdalena to name a few

Michele was the first at 19 months old
She was tiny and sweet and fun to hold

Nicholas was with her for just a few years
When he left her, she shed many tears

Tamara next to her from Korea came
She is lively, and active, and likes a good game

Amy was one who required much care
But Margo for her was always there

Tammy and Diane were next in the fold
Their Down Syndrome makes them young though they're old

She took Kristen in with great care
She left so abruptly; it was hard to bear

Ilene, her niece, in now like a daughter
Margo is very happy she got her

Lynne and Tanea, the twins, are now there
They are doing quite well under her care

Though childbirth is one thing she never could do
She has been a "Mother" to quite a few

Nolan D. Fugal

This poem was written as a present to Margo from her husband Nolan for Mother's Day 1990. Since this poem, Ilene and the twins were adopted. Margo was a wonderful mother to her 5 girls through adoption plus many others who came into her life that she was able to be a mother for a time.
