

Dedications

Mom,

I want to thank you for all of the love and support you've shown me throughout my entire life, and I thank God everyday for allowing me to be there for you in your time of need when you needed me the most. God saw that you needed Him, so

He called you home.

You will always be in my heart.

Til we meet again...

Love you Forever,

Ruthie

Magic was in our Grandmother's touch and sunshine was in her smile, there was love in everything she did that made our lives worthwhile.

We found both hope and courage looking into her eyes, her laughter was a source of joy, her works were warm and wise.

There was a kindness and compassion to be found in her embrace, we've seen the light of Heaven shine from our Grandmother's face.

Remembering Monday and our last glance, what we wouldn't do for one more chance.

We Love You, Tasha and Lisa

Grandma

With the gift of years comes the treasure of knowing that there are many who love you dearly. The memories you've made with us will last forever. The tenderness you've shared with us will never fade. The most wonderful gift you could ever give is the special part of you that now lives in each of us. And the truth your love has taught us can only be strengthened by the gift of time. For where roots grow deep memories grow forever. Love You Always, Vonnie

Obituary

Virginia Moore was born on April 15, 1926, and peacefully transitioned in her home on November 27, 2023, surrounded by her family. Virginia, known affectionately as Grandmom Moore, lived a remarkable life that touched the hearts of everyone she encountered.

Born to Ruth and Alexander Williams in Philadelphia, Virginia faced early heartache when her parents passed away. However, she found strength and love in the care of her grandmother, Mary Jane Butler. Virginia married Dennis Moore, and together they shared 61 years of marriage until his passing. Family was at the center of Virginia. She was a devoted mother to nine children, a loving grandmother to 20, and a proud great-grandmother to 41, with an additional 9 great-great-grandchildren. Her home on Camac Street was a hub of warmth and love, where she opened her heart to not only her immediate family but also to countless relatives and neighbors, too many to name. Virginia worked diligently throughout her life, initially at Alfred & Angelo factory and later for the Department of Human Services (DHS), where she dedicated more than 25 years of service until her well deserved retirement. Her zest for life didn't stop there; at the age of 80, she pursued her passion for Culinary Arts at Community College.

An avid lover of the arts, Virginia enjoyed the opera and found solace in the pages of a good book. Her culinary skills were legendary, especially when it came to cooking for her extensive family and the community. Known for her generosity, she never turned anyone away and opened her doors to all in need. Virginia and her late husband, Dennis (fondly called Bojo), shared a charming tradition of watching the lottery together. As soon as the numbers were announced, they would retire for the night, enjoying the simple pleasures of life together. Sunday dinners at 2937 Camac Street were a highlight, creating cherished memories for all who gathered around her table. Virginia had a remarkable memory, ensuring she never missed a birthday and celebrating each child and grandchild with a homemade birthday cake. Her kindness, warmth, and unwavering love made Virginia a cherished figure in the lives of those fortunate enough to know her. She will be remembered for her boundless generosity, her culinary creations, and the love that radiated from her heart. Virginia leaves behind a legacy of love and community that will be cherished by all who had the privilege of being a part of her life.
