

Don't Cry

Don't cry. Don't cry for me. My Lord Jesus has set me free. Don't cry. Don't cry for me. You see my Lord Jesus has beckoned to me. He has taken me far beyond the sea. O Lord, My Lord has set me free. Thank you, O Lord, for believing in me. Don't cry. Don't cry over me. Just keep your mind on Jesus and someday, you too will be free. Don't cry. Don't cry my God has called for me. Thank you, O Lord, for helping me to believe in thee. My God. My God has set me free. Don't cry. Don't cry for me.

Obituary

Mr. Jerry Rowe, son of the late Willie (Bill) Rowe and Hazel Haney Rowe was born on January 9, 1937, in Hillsboro, Texas. He was a twin, the sixth child out of eight children. He attended the public schools in Frederick, Oklahoma where he grew up and moved to California after he graduated from Boyd High School. At an early age he professed his faith in Christ and faithfully served for many years on the trustee board and sung in the male chorus choir.

Jerry married the love of his life Ella Mae on April 6, 1963, in San Francisco, California. Together they were blessed with two beautiful daughters, Geraldine and Sheena. They created a strong, loyal family devoted to supporting each other. Jerry and Ella were inseparable, and he loved her truly and deeply. They enjoyed endless laughter and adventures while they were together. They enjoyed traveling, entertaining family and friends for BBQ dinners and listening to music. The most treasured thing of all to both of them was spending time with his family and two granddaughters, Makayla and Mya. Jerry loved giving guidance, sharing life advice, and telling stories of his life. Jerry was preceded in death by his parents, Willie (Bill) Rowe, and Hazel Haney Rowe; brothers: Horace Rowe, Willie Rowe, Robert Wallace, Terry Rowe (twin brothers), Henry Genie Rowe, and sisters: Nola Rowe and Louise Wallace Driver.

Jerry is survived by his wife, Ella Mae of sixty-two years, his daughters Geraldine Rowe and Sheena Barner (Rickey), granddaughters Makayla Heard and Mya Heard, sister Betty Green (Ben) and a host of nieces, nephews, and close friends.
