

PLEASE DON'T STOP THE MUSIC

A Loving Tribute to
Bryce Jaonte "Juicy" Swilley

Please don't stop the music,
Don't let the laughter fade,
Remember all the joyful times,
And memories we made.
For Bryce was more than just a name,
He was a light that shined so bright,
The life of every gathering,
A smile that felt just right.
They called him "Juicy," "Juice Man," too,
A friend to everyone he'd meet,
And when his favorite song came on,
You'd find him on his feet.
He loved the game, he loved to dance,
He knew how to enjoy each day,
And though we wish for one more moment,
God has called him away.
Please don't stop the music,
When tears begin to fall,
Remember how he made you laugh,
And shared his joy with all.
When family comes together,
And old familiar songs are played,
Remember Bryce with smiling hearts,
And all the love he gave.
Though we can no longer see him dance,
Or hear his laughter fill the air,
His memory lives in every heart,
And love will keep him there.
So turn the music up for Juicy,
Let the good times be recalled,
For a life that brought so much joy
Deserves to be celebrated by all.
And when the final song is over,
And the evening fades away,
The rhythm of his precious life
Within our hearts will stay.
Please don't stop the music,
Let his memory live on through,
For every beat and every melody
Will remind us of our Juicy, too.
The music may grow quiet,
but the love will never end.
Forever Dancing in Our Hearts.
Forever Our "Juicy."

THE LIFE & LEGACY OF

BRYCE JAONTE SWILLEY

"Juicy" | "Juice Man"

SEPTEMBER 7, 1993 – SEPTEMBER 27, 2026

"To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven."
- Ecclesiastes 3:1

A PRECIOUS LIFE BEGINS

On Tuesday, September 7, 1993, in Tallahassee, Florida, a precious gift of life was welcomed into the world. Born to James Oris Williams and Chiquita La'Quan Swilley, that gift was a baby boy whom they lovingly named Bryce Jaonte Swilley.

From the very beginning, Bryce became part of a family rich in love, personality, and unforgettable memories. To know him was to know someone whose presence could brighten a room and whose personality was difficult to forget. His earthly journey would be one marked by laughter, friendship, and a special ability to bring people together. Throughout his 33 years of life, Bryce would come to be known not only by the name given to him at birth, but by the affectionate names - "Juicy" and "Juice Man."

A SPIRIT TOO JOYFUL TO BE FORGOTTEN

Some people enter a room quietly, while others arrive with a presence that immediately changes the atmosphere. Bryce was one of those people whose joyful spirit could turn an ordinary gathering into a memorable occasion, for he was truly the life of the party. He possessed a natural ability to make people laugh, feel welcome, and enjoy the moment. He never met a stranger, because in his world, a stranger was simply a friend he had not yet gotten to know.

Whether among family, longtime friends, or someone he had only recently met, Juicy had a way of making people feel comfortable in his presence. His friendly nature and outgoing personality made him a familiar face and dearly loved by all.

Bryce had a special love for football. The excitement of the game, the competition, and the joy of cheering on the action were among the things he looked forward to each season. However, when the music started, there was no denying that he was also passionate about dancing! Dancing was more than movement for him; it was another expression of his lively personality that made him who he was. He enjoyed the rhythm of life and the happiness that came from sharing good times with others. Those who knew him best will remember the laughter, the dancing, the conversations, and the unforgettable moments that made "Juicy" one of a kind.

ROOTED IN FAMILY, SURROUNDED BY LOVE

Bryce was blessed to be a part of two families whose histories, relationships, and shared experiences helped shape his life. Through his mother, Chiquita, affectionately known as "Baby Doll," Bryce inherited a family legacy rooted in love, togetherness, and the importance of cherishing those closest to you. He also inherited her friendliness, love of dancing, and ability to make friends wherever he went, and the same magnetic personality that drew people to him. On the other hand, Bryce shared with his father, James Oris, affectionately known as "Shorty," the rich family legacy of love, strength, and meaningful relationships. Both parents blessed him with qualities, which woven together, created important aspects of his life story. For him, family was more than a shared name or bloodline. It was the laughter around familiar faces, the memories created over the years, and the relationships that remained through life's changing seasons.

HIS EARTHLY JOURNEY COMPLETED

Life is a precious gift, and no matter how many years we are granted, the transition of someone we love always seems to come too soon. On Sunday, September 27, 2026, Bryce Jaonte Swilley's earthly journey of only 33 years concluded. His passing has left an emptiness in the hearts of his family, friends, and all others who knew him affectionately as "Juicy." While his voice may no longer be heard in familiar conversations and his smooth dancing may no longer grace the gatherings he enjoyed, the joy he brought into everyone's lives will never be forgotten.

A LEGACY OF LOVE TO CHERISH

For those who loved Bryce Jaonte Swilley, the memories are now precious treasures — reminders of a life that always brought smiles, laughter, and friendship to so many. He leaves behind a loving family and a community of friends who will forever cherish the memories of his life. Among them are his beloved siblings: Britney Davis, Brianca Swilley, Bryan Williams, Darius Keeling, Jr., James Williams, Annie Ree Williams, and Jamie Williams; and his brother-in-law, Wallace Montina. He also leaves to cherish his memory his maternal grandfather, Oliver Smith, Sr.; his maternal aunts and uncles, Kimberly Williams, Rayshell Long, Latonya Smith, Otis Smith, and Oliver Smith, Jr.; his paternal aunts and uncles, Chandler Williams, Richard Hill, Antonio (Vanessa) Williams, Yolanda Denson, Vivian (James) Miller, Glendale Moore, and Sheri (Anthony) McGhee. Additional family members include his great-aunts and great-uncles, Alice (Gene) Grace, Brenda (Curtis) Dennis, Harrison Mitchell, Regina Yulee, Ferris (Terri) Swilley, and Kip (Bernadette) Yulee; his mother's special bonus parents, Lamar and Henrietta Eady; and many other cherished relatives. Bryce's legacy of love also lives on through a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, extended family members, and countless friends who became family along the way. Each carries a special memory of "Juicy" - a laugh shared, a dance remembered, a conversation enjoyed, or simply the happiness of having known him.

THOSE WHO WELCOMED HIM INTO ETERNITY

Bryce Jaonte Swilley was preceded in death by his beloved parents, James Oris Williams and Chiquita La'Quan Swilley; his loving sister, Tiffany Montina; his maternal grandmother, Alma Swilley; his paternal grandparents, Chandler Williams, Sr. and Annie Ree Williams; his maternal great-grandparents, Ferris Swilley, Sr. and China Mae Swilley; maternal aunt and uncles, Minister Sheila Seymore Samuels, Bennie Samuels and Ulysses Seymore; maternal great-aunts, Olivia Mitchell and Beverly Knox; and his paternal uncle and aunt, Willie Chandler Williams, Sr. and Mary Williams.

THE JOY HE LEAVES BEHIND

Loved ones who celebrate the life of Bryce Jaonte Swilley, will be reminded that some of life's most beautiful gifts cannot be measured by time.

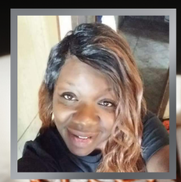

Bryce's life was not defined simply by the 33 years he spent on this earth, but by the joy he shared, the friendships he formed, and the memories he created.

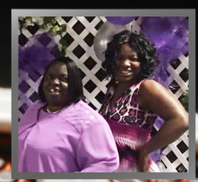

He taught those around him, perhaps without ever realizing it, that life is meant to be enjoyed, that laughter is a gift worth sharing, and that a friendly heart can leave an impression that lasts a lifetime.

There will be gatherings where his absence is felt, music that brings back memories of his dancing, and conversations that begin with the familiar words, "You remember when Juicy..."
And in those moments, even through tears, there will be smiles.

For the love shared with someone else does not disappear when their earthly journey ends. It lives on in the stories that are told, the memories that are treasured, and the hearts that will never forget. As everyone has thoughts of Bryce, remember the laughter. Remember the dancing. Remember the friendships. Remember the joy.

And above all, remember that anyone who met "Juicy," met someone who could never be forgotten.
