The Life & Celebrating Legacy

The story of Naomi (Nunk) began December 30, 1949 when she was born to the late Leroy Jefferson and Mary Rebecca Shaw Benjamin. Nunk grew up in the Blue Pond Community of Bishopville and was educated in the public schools of Lee County. She entered the work force at an early age. Because of her love for children, she became a babysitter for the late Dr. Leon Hunt and entered his medical practice as a Nursing Assistant. She continued caring for children in her home for many years, helping other parents, and giving advice about raising and caring for children. She grew to become famous for her potato pies, potato bread, pound cakes, candied yams and dinners. Her journey of life led her to become a member of Browntown Temple under the leadership of Bishop Nathaniel Dixon, who watched her mature into Christian Discipleship. Her travel ended October 25, 2025 after an extended period of illness.

She was preceded in death by her parents, grandson, Kaleb L. Benjamin; two sisters, Elizabeth Guzman and Aretha Benjamin; one brother, Rufus Benjamin; one niece, Janice Benjamin; one nephew, James Benjamin.

She leaves to cherish her precious memories, three loving and devoted sons, Trelvis LaRon Benjamin (Melissa) of Florida, Shelvin LaTrelle Benjamin (Tysha) of North Charleston, South Carolina and James Perkins of Myrtle Beach, South Carolina; grandchildren, Sgt. O'Shay Benjamin, Kaneil, Latavia, Shana Charles of Atlanta, Georgia, Deltavis, Lateyja Benjamin of Charleston, South Carolina; fifteen great grandchildren, one brother, Marion (Ester) Jackson, three sisters, Brenda Spann of Columbia, South Carolina, Sandra Dixon of Bishopville, South Carolina, and Edna (Willie) Gregg of Alexandria, Virginia; three nephews, Veltron Dixon, Cory Dixon and Scottie Benjamin, four nieces, adopted son Paul Edwards, adopted grandson Malachi Edwards and one grandniece Cadence Dixon and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins and friends.
