

Psalm 23

1 The LORD is my shepherd; I shall not want.

*2 He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
he leadeth me beside the still waters.*

3 He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

*5 Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil;
my cup runneth over.*

6 Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the LORD for ever.

Peggy Mildred Potter

Peggy Mildred Potter, 87, of Sedalia, MO, passed away at her home on Monday, July 1, 2024. She was born on September 27, 1936, in Buffalo, KY, the daughter of Herbert Vance and Florence (Lee) Vance, who preceded her in death.

On September 7, 1957, in Indiana, she was united in marriage to Earnest D. Potter, Sr., who resides in the home.

Peggy Potter, known affectionately as Granny, lived a life filled with love and dedication to her family. From her early years on a tobacco farm in Kentucky to becoming a beloved matriarch, she embraced various roles with grace and strength. Peggy married young and raised her children, Kena Gwen and Earnie Jr., pouring her heart into motherhood and later relishing her roles as Nana and Grandma Potter to her grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She and her husband, Earnest Sr., built a life together in Missouri, where they ran a farm and were active community members.

Peggy's faith was central throughout her life, and she remained deeply involved in Providence Baptist Church until her health declined. Despite facing challenges like Pulmonary Fibrosis and later a hip fracture, she continued to find joy in watching her family grow and thrive. Her final days were spent surrounded by loved ones, embodying strength and acceptance, as she peacefully passed away in her own home.

Peggy Potter's legacy is one of resilience, faith, and unconditional love—a testament to a life lived fully and with a profound impact on those around her.

In addition to her husband, Peggy is survived by a son, Earnest D. Potter, Jr. of Sedalia; four grandchildren, Adam Templeton (Jenn), Kyla Potter, Devin Squires (Paden), and Derick Templeton (Janice); eleven great-grandchildren; a sister, Diane Creason (Norman) of Campbellsville, KY; and many nieces, nephews, and cousins.

In addition to her parents, Peggy was preceded in death by a daughter, Kena Gwen Templeton; two brothers, Carl Vance and Junior Vance; and a sister, Louella Junis.
