TRIBUTES OF LOVE

A Letter to Our Mother in Heaven

You taught us love so pure and kind,
 A light that time could never blind.
 Your gentle hands, your soothing voice,
 Made every heartache lose its noise.
 You gave us strength when days were long,
 You filled our souls with faith and song.
 Though we must walk this path apart,
 Your love still beats within each heart.

We see you in the morning sun,
 In every smile, in everyone.

Your lessons guide us, day by day,
 Though Heaven called you far away.
 So rest, dear Mama, sweet and true,
 Our hearts will always honor you.

Your children promise –
 through joy or pain –

To live in love, until we meet again.

~Love Your Children

For Our Grandmother, With Love

You filled our days with laughter and grace,
 A gentle smile, a warm embrace.
 Your wisdom shone in all you'd say,
 Guiding our hearts along the way.

You taught us kindness, faith, and care,
 To see God's beauty everywhere.
 Your stories, hugs, your loving tone –
 Those precious moments now our own.

Though Heaven's gate has called you near,
 Your love remains, forever clear.
 In every sunrise, soft and bright,
 We feel your arms hold us so tight.

We'll carry your spirit, pure and strong,
 Your legacy will still live on.

Until we meet on Heaven's shore,

We'll love you, Grandma – forevermore.

A LIFE REMEMBERED

Ammie Lee Williams

Ammie Lee Williams, affectionately known as Ammie Lee Suttlar Williams, departed this life on October 21, 2025, at the Green House in Yazoo City, Mississippi. Born on February 1, 1946, in Mississippi, Ammie Lee lived a vibrant life filled with passions that brought her joy and connected her with those around her.

Ammie Lee enjoyed a rich tapestry of interests that included a deep love for reading, cooking delicious meals, and spending time fishing. Her fondness for old movies often provided her with cherished moments of nostalgia, and she relished the joy of dance and the warmth of human connection. One of her unique passions was an admiration for the TV show "Walker, Texas Ranger", which showcased her spirited personality and zest for life.

She is survived by her devoted children: Carolyn Patterson (Clifton), Lynette M. Suttlar, Sandra Suttlar, Allison Bradshaw, and Allen Williams. Ammie Lee also leaves behind her loving siblings: Ann Finley and Shirley Moore, along with her beloved baby brother, Johnny (Grace) Moore. Grandchildren: Marcus Terrell (Heather) Suttlar, Sr., Clifton Jamaal Suttlar, Brianna Williams, Candace Patterson, Chance Patterson, and Aubrey Williams. Beloved nieces: Darlene (Rodney) Talbert, Marilyn (William) Crawford, and a host of other nieces, nephews, relatives, and friends.

Ammie Lee was preceded in death by several family members who held a special place in her heart, including her brothers Hebert Suttlar, Jr. (Annie Frances), Joe Anderson, Henry Lee Moore, and James Moore; her sister Queen Ester Williams; and her sister Rose Mary Rembert. The legacy she leaves behind is one of love, laughter, and cherished memories.

Ammie Lee Williams will be deeply missed and lovingly remembered by all who had the pleasure of knowing her.

TRIBUTES OF LOVE

To Our Sister

You were our sister, our lifelong friend,
 A bond too deep for time to end.
 We shared our laughter, dreams, and tears,
 A tapestry of love through all our years.

Your smile could brighten the darkest skies,
 Your strength and faith still make us rise.
 Though Heaven called you far too soon,
 Your light still shines like a silver moon.

We miss your voice, your gentle care,
 The way you loved, so kind and rare.
 But even now, though we're apart,
 You live forever in our hearts.

We'll carry your love where'er we go,
 In whispered winds and sunset's glow.
 Rest, dear Sister, peaceful and free –
 Until God calls us home to thee.

~Love Your Siblings~

To Our Dear Friend

You were more than a friend –
 you were family true,
 A blessing to all who were loved by you.
 Your laughter still echoes,
 your kindness remains,

A gentle reminder through joy and through pain.

We'll miss your voice, your easy grace,
 The light that shone from your smiling face.

Though Heaven's call took you away,
 Your memory lives in our hearts each day.

Through stories shared and tears we cry,
 We'll honor your name as the days go by.

Your journey continues – just out of sight,
 But your spirit walks with us, day and night.

Rest now, dear friend, your work is done,
 Your peace has come, your crown is won.

Until we meet where souls are free,
 You'll live forever in our memory.

~ Love Your Friends ~
