A Mother's Love

A mother's love is heaven-sent,
A gift from God, so pure, so meant
To guide, to teach, to gently show
The path His children ought to go.

With hands that serve and heart that prays,
She walks in faith through all her days,
Trusting God in joy and trial,
Reflecting Christ in every mile.

Her words bring comfort, calm, and grace,
A glimpse of God in her embrace,
Her quiet strength, her steadfast care,
Reveal His love so deep and rare.

She plants the seeds of truth and light,
And lifts her children day and night,
Pointing always to the One
Who gave His life, His only Son.

Blessed is she who fears the Lord,
Who stands upon His holy Word,
Her crown is not of gold or fame,
But honor in His precious name.

So on this day, we rise and say,
Thank you, Mom, in every way—
For leading us in paths above,
And showing us our Savior's love.

OBITUARY

Sister Delois Hollinger

September 22, 1959 - July 29, 2026

Sister Delois Hollinger, a devoted mother, grandmother, sister, aunt, cousin and friend, completed her earthly journey in the early morning hours of Wednesday, July 29, 2026.

A native of Blakely, Early County, Georgia, Delois was the youngest of eight (8) children born to the union of the late Brother John Lester Hollinger and the late Sister Florene Jordan Hollinger, on September 22, 1959. While initially named Delores, an error on her birth certificate, handwritten by the attending midwife, spelled her name “Delois.”

She accepted Christ as her personal savior at an early age and was a faithful member of Wesley Chapel African Methodist Episcopal Church, where her great-grandfather, Rev. Giles D. Jordan was one of the church’s earliest pastors. Her grandfather, Rev. John T. Jordan, also served Wesley Chapel as associate pastor. Upon moving to Tallahassee in 1987, she joined the Pentecostal Church of God, Inc. on Paul Russell Road, where she served as a faithful member. In 2001, she joined The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, remaining a faithful member for more than 25 years. She also enjoyed attending services at Greater St. Mark Primitive Baptist Church, where her son serves as an associate minister and likewise loved worshipping the Lord wherever the opportunity presented itself.

Affectionately known as “DeeDee” by close family and friends, she was educated in the public schools of Early County, graduating with honors in 1977 from Early County High School. Possessing a kind and warm personality, a voracious appetite for reading, a talent for crunching numbers and studious sensibilities, her mother was insistent that she attend college. She began her collegiate matriculation at Albany State University, before transferring to Troy State University, later completing further study at Florida A&M University. She graduated from Troy State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Computer Science and Mathematics in 1985. Additionally, she went on to earn the Master of Arts degree in Organizational Management from Ashford University in 2010.

A woman of remarkable intelligence, dedication, and quiet excellence, she devoted much of her professional life to serving Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University (FAMU). She began her career at the University in 1987 as Coordinator for Administrative Services in the Division of Agricultural Research within the College of Engineering Sciences, Technology and Agriculture (CESTA). During her distinguished 23-year tenure, she provided exemplary leadership in administrative affairs, human resources, payroll management, research budgeting, employment contract administration, and the preparation of research project reports for the United States Department of Agriculture. She also faithfully served as Assistant to Dr. Sunil K. Pancholy, Associate Dean for Research, earning a reputation for professionalism, precision, and unwavering dependability.

Gifted with exceptional computer skills and a natural aptitude for emerging technology, she became widely recognized throughout the FAMU campus and the broader community as the person to call whenever technical expertise was needed. Long before computer proficiency became commonplace, she was admired for her ability to install and configure operating systems, troubleshoot complex computer issues, and assist faculty, administrators, and staff with a wide range of technological challenges. Her willingness to share her knowledge and her patient, generous spirit endeared her to colleagues and students across the University. Her outstanding work earned the confidence and respect of generations of University leadership. Throughout her career, she served with distinction under several Deans of CESTA, including Dr. Charles C. Kidd, Sr., Dr. Robert R. Bradford, Dr. Bobby R. Phills, and Dr. Makola M. Abdullah. She retired from Florida A&M University in 2010, leaving behind a legacy of faithful service, professionalism, and countless lives enriched through her dedication and expertise.

Prior to joining Florida A&M University, she worked as Cashier and Accountant for Anglin Groceries, where she managed daily business operations, maintained financial records, prepared tax documents, supervised inventory, and provided administrative support to the store's owner. She began her professional journey at TG&Y Department Store, where she developed a strong work ethic while serving as a cashier and sales associate, assisting customers, managing inventory, and working in the sewing and arts and crafts department. These early experiences helped shape the diligence, integrity, and commitment to excellence that became the hallmark of her life's work.

Delois adored her children, Wintress Kumari Hollinger (born 1992) and Delaitre Jordan Hollinger (born 1993). They were her pride and joy, and she made it her life's mission to teach them about Jesus Christ, as well as to expose them to educational excellence, civic duty, culture, community and black pride. She was very much involved in Wintress and Delaitre's early mentorship through Big Brothers, Big Sisters of the Big Bend. Wherever she saw her children showing an interest, she would go above and beyond the call of duty to ensure that she fed that interest; whether it be piano, clarinet, trumpet, flute, football, guitar, reading, singing, painting, or dancing. She was an active volunteer and chaired the Parent Teacher Association (PTO) at Leonard Wesson Elementary School, where she earned the respect of teachers, principals and school board member Maggie Lewis-Butler. She continued to nurture her children and instilled in them the importance of voter education and registration by involving them in children's voting and having them accompany her when she worked local voting polls.

She thoroughly enjoyed fishing (in rain, sleet, or snow), swimming, traveling, learning Spanish, attending her Lincoln Neighborhood Center Senior Citizens Group, serving on the Public Relations Committee at her church, The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints; and she never missed an opportunity to help anyone who was in need. She was overjoyed that she received the opportunity to take her "Wish of a Lifetime" trip to Denver, Colorado, and go ice fishing. This was one of her most treasured experiences.

She is survived by her daughter, Wintress Kumari Hollinger and her son Delaitre Jordan Hollinger, both of Tallahassee, FL; grandson Malcolm Quammane Edwards, Jr. of Salt Lake City, UT; sisters Blondell Hollinger, Linda Hollinger Sleasman (both of Tallahassee), Loretta Hill (Malone, FL), and Elayne Hollinger (Dave Gayden) of Lexington, KY; brothers James Hollinger (Zephyrhills, FL) and John "Bubba" Hollinger of Semi Valley, CA; godson, Joseph Threadcraft; and a host of loving nieces, nephews, great nieces, great nephews, cousins, and sorrowing friends.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her infant daughter, Carmen Molden; an infant son who was stillborn; her brother, Willie Eddie Hollinger; her niece, Consuela Hill; and dear friends Angenora Lucille Pate, Carla Raniece Williams, Johneatta LoRay Williams, Dr. Willie Ree Tillman Williams and Selena Thomas.

Gone Fishing

*I've finished life's chores assigned to me,
So put me on a boat headed out to sea.
Please send along my fishing pole
For I've been invited to the fishin' hole.*

*Where every day is a day to fish,
To fill your heart with every wish.
Don't worry, or feel sad for me,
I'm fishin' with the Master of the sea.*

*We will miss each other for awhile,
But you will come and bring your smile.
That won't be long you will see,
Till we're together you and me.*

*To all of those that think of me,
Be happy as I go out to sea.
If others wonder why I'm missin'
Just tell 'em I've gone fishin'*

Tampa, FL
August 3, 2026,

Dear Delaitre, Wintress and Family,

It is with deep heartfelt sorrow, I write this condolence message to you guys about the passing of your mother, Delois Hollinger and a sister to others. Since her retirement from Florida A&M University, she stayed in touch with our family and visited our Tampa home along with Delaitre and her brother. It was always a pleasure to talk to her!

Around the mid-eighties, we were looking for an office executive, who could help us in computer programs and financial reports. We found such a person in Delois. She was very efficient, knowledgeable and willing to help College faculty and students. Pretty soon, as a matter of fact, the whole college called upon her to complete technical project proposals.

Delois loved her family, friends and church. In turn, her church members were always ready to help her. We miss her deeply and her friends and family already realize this. Her house was always open to her extended family.

I regret, I won't be able to attend her funeral services, because of my ill health. We all pray for her soul to peacefully transfer in God's service. May Christ keep her in the palm of his hand!

Sincerely,

To Whom It May Concern:

It is my pleasure to commend Ms. Delois Hollinger for her outstanding service to Florida A&M University's College of Engineering Sciences, Technology and Agriculture (CESTA). During my tenure as Dean and Director of Land-Grant Programs from 2008 to 2011, I had the privilege of working closely with Ms. Hollinger and came to know her as an exceptionally hardworking, dedicated, and dependable employee. She consistently approached her responsibilities with professionalism, kindness, and a warm spirit that endeared her to faculty, staff, and students alike.

I also had the opportunity to meet her son, Delaitre Hollinger, during one of CESTA's Grape Harvest Festivals. I was immediately impressed by his remarkable knowledge of history and his passion for preserving the legacy of the College. As a result, I appointed him to serve on the committee that refurbished the Agriculture and Home Economics Gallery of Distinction, recognized our deans and directors with permanent portraits, and helped facilitate the complete renovation of the Perry-Paige Hall lobby. His contributions reflected the same dedication to excellence that I witnessed in his mother throughout her years of service.

Ms. Hollinger's commitment to CESTA left a lasting impression on our College, and I remain grateful for the professionalism, loyalty, and genuine kindness she demonstrated each day. I am pleased to offer my highest commendation and appreciation for her many contributions to Florida A&M University.

Sincerely,

Statement from Curtis Taylor
President & CEO, Tallahassee Urban League

On behalf of the Tallahassee Urban League Board of Directors, our staff, and our many dedicated volunteers, we extend our deepest and most heartfelt condolences on the passing of Mrs. Delois Hollinger, the beloved mother of Wintress Hollinger and Delaitre Hollinger.

Our organization has known the Hollinger family for many years. Delaitre has been a part of the Tallahassee Urban League family since he was just 14 years old, and over the past 18 years I have had the privilege of watching him grow into an extraordinary leader, historian, and advocate for our community. From the day he first walked into my office with his mother, his sister Wintress, and other members of his family, it was evident that he had been raised with love, discipline, and purpose.

We can never thank Mother Delois enough for the investment she made in her children. While many parents placed television and cartoons before their children, she placed history book after history book before Delaitre. Because of her vision, encouragement, and commitment to education, he has become one of Florida's foremost historians. That is why I often say, parenting matters. Parenting matters. Mrs. Hollinger's life is proof that the love and guidance of a devoted parent can shape not only a child, but an entire community.

She was a kind, loving, and caring woman whose influence extended far beyond her own family. The Hollingers have long been a respected family in Tallahassee, and we are grateful for the example they continue to set. Today, Delaitre is not only preserving history—he is making history. I could not be prouder of all he has accomplished and all that he continues to do. Many people claim to have mentored him, and I certainly appreciate the role so many have played in his life. But I often tell people that I have been blessed to be like a father to him, and for that I give God all the glory.

To Delaitre, Wintress, and the entire Hollinger family, please know that the Tallahassee Urban League stands with you during this difficult time. We mourn with you, we pray with you, and we celebrate the remarkable life of a woman whose legacy will live on through her children and through the countless lives they continue to touch.

Rest in peace, Mrs. Delois Hollinger. We love you, but God loves you best.

A Tribute to Sister Delois Hollinger

On behalf of the Leon County School Board, I extend our deepest condolences to the family, friends, and loved ones of Sister Delois Hollinger. As a former volunteer in our schools and past PTA Chair at Leonard Wesson Elementary School, Sister Hollinger exemplified the very best of community involvement. Like so many dedicated volunteers, she understood that strong schools are not built by educators alone, but by parents and community members willing to invest their time, talents and love into the lives of children. Her infectious positivity, encouraging spirit, and unwavering commitment helped strengthen our school district and left a lasting impact on countless students, families, and educators.

While many will remember Sister Hollinger for her professional success and her years of service to the Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University, I believe she would measure her life's legacy differently. She understood that the true measure of success was not found in titles, awards, or recognition, but in the character, faith, purpose, and persistence she nurtured in her children and in those whose lives she touched.

I was privileged to know this truth through a unique personal connection. As her son Delaitre's tenth-grade English teacher at Amos P. Godby High School, I had the opportunity to witness firsthand the values Sister Hollinger instilled in her son. She was a devoted mother who believed in education, civic responsibility, personal excellence, and above all, faith in God. Those principles were evident in her children and reflected the intentionality with which she approached motherhood. And I could only image that Sister Hollinger played a role in shaping Delaitre's appreciation for great artists such as Anita Baker and Lena Horne.

Many parents dream of seeing their children achieve professional success, and Delois certainly celebrated every accomplishment of her son and daughter. Yet those who knew her faith understand that while she celebrated her children's achievements, including her son's willingness to serve the community as a historian, her greatest joy was undoubtedly seeing Mr. Delaitre Hollinger become Minister Delaitre Hollinger at Greater St. Marks Primitive Baptist Church. For a woman whose life was anchored in God's Word, and whose deepest desire was to lead by example for her children, there could be no greater blessing than witnessing her son answer a higher calling and dedicate his life to serving God and others.

As we celebrate her life and mourn her passing, may we find comfort in knowing that her influence endures in her family, her community, her church, and the many lives she touched along the way. Her earthly work is complete, but her example of faith, service, and devotion will continue to inspire us for years to come.

With heartfelt sympathy and gratitude for a life well lived,

Dr. Marcus Nicolas

Friends,

Delois Hollinger was a legendary Tallahassee woman.

Her passing was not only a tremendous loss for my dear friend Delaitre and his sister Wintress; it creates a profound void in the life of our city.

She can never be replaced. Her singular contributions speak for themselves, across our state, across the community here in Tallahassee which she helped lead, and indeed throughout the American South.

We may take some heart in the fact that her good works live on through the efforts of her precious son Delaitre, a tireless advocate for the same values and perhaps our keenest preserver of the history which she not only evangelized; she made with her own hands.

With deepest condolences,

A Personal Tribute to the Life and Legacy of Sister Delois Hollinger

There are people God places in our lives whose influence is felt not through grand gestures, but through their quiet strength, steadfast faith, and unwavering love for others. Sister Delois Hollinger was one of those rare individuals.

My journey with Sister Delois began through her son, Delaitre, when he was just 17 years old. As she faithfully supported him through every step of his journey in ministry, education, and life, our paths crossed time and again. Over the years, I came to know not only a devoted mother, but also a remarkable woman whose greatest joy was pouring herself into the lives of her children. Watching Sister Delois love and encourage Delaitre revealed the very essence of who she was. She was present. She was intentional. She celebrated every accomplishment, offered strength during every challenge, and quietly stood behind him with prayers, wisdom, and unconditional love. Her support was never about recognition; it was simply the natural expression of a mother's heart. As the years passed, our many encounters allowed me to witness a woman whose life reflected kindness, humility, grace, and unwavering faith. She possessed a quiet spirit that made others feel welcomed and valued. She had an extraordinary ability to make a difference without seeking attention, serving others with a generosity that flowed naturally from her relationship with God. Sister Delois understood that one of life's greatest callings is investing in others. Whether supporting her family, encouraging young people, serving her church, helping neighbors, or sharing her knowledge with those around her, she consistently placed the needs of others before her own. Her life reminded us that true greatness is found not in titles or accolades, but in faithful service and genuine love.

She was a woman of intelligence and remarkable gifts, yet what I will remember most is not her accomplishments, but her character. Her warmth, quiet confidence, gentle smile, and unwavering commitment to her family left an impression that words can scarcely describe. Her greatest legacy lives on in her beloved children, Wintress and Delaitre, and in her grandson, Malcolm. The values she instilled—faith, integrity, education, compassion, and service—will continue to guide them and inspire everyone blessed to know this family. To Wintress, Delaitre, Malcolm, and the entire Hollinger family, please know that you do not grieve alone. Our community grieves with you, celebrates with you, and gives thanks to God for allowing us to know such a beautiful soul.

Well done, good and faithful servant.

A Tribute to Mother Delois Hollinger

There are people who make an impact because of the positions they hold. Then there are people who make an impact because of the way they make others feel. Mother Delois Hollinger was the latter.

When I think of Mother Delois, I don't think about titles, degrees, or accomplishments at first. I think about her spirit. I think about her kindness. I think about her gentle presence and the genuine way she cared for people. She had a warmth that couldn't be manufactured and a humility that made everyone around her feel welcomed and valued.

In a world where many people seek recognition, Mother Delois sought purpose. She lived her faith more than she talked about it. You could see Christ in the way she treated people, in the way she served her family, in the way she loved her community, and in the quiet consistency of her life.

One thing I've learned over the years is that the true measure of a person isn't what they accumulate. It's what they leave behind in the hearts of others. By that measure, Mother Delois lived an extraordinary life.

She raised two remarkable children, and anyone who knows Delaitre and Wintress knows they did not become the people they are by accident. They reflect a mother who invested her life in them, prayed over them, believed in them, and taught them not only how to succeed, but how to serve. That may be her greatest legacy.

As someone who has spent much of my own life in public service, I've come to appreciate people who understand that changing the world often happens one life at a time. Mother Delois understood that. She never needed a stage to make a difference. She simply showed up day after day with compassion, wisdom, and a willingness to help wherever she was needed. Those are the people who quietly strengthen a community, and often, they never receive the recognition they deserve.

While our community mourns her passing, Heaven celebrates a life well lived.

To Delaitre, Wintress, Malcolm, and the entire Hollinger family, please know that your grief is shared by so many of us. The love your mother poured into this community has been returned in the love so many people have for her. I pray that in the difficult days ahead you find comfort in knowing that her influence did not end on July 29. It lives on in each of you, in the countless lives she touched, and in the example, she leaves for all of us.

The Apostle Paul wrote these words in 2 Timothy:

"I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

When I think of Mother Delois, I cannot help but believe those words describe her journey. She fought with grace. She finished with dignity. And through every season of her life, she kept her faith.

Thank you, Mother Delois, for showing us what a life of quiet strength, unwavering faith, and unconditional love looks like. Your work here is complete, but your legacy will continue to bless this community for generations.

May God wrap His loving arms around the Hollinger family and grant them peace that surpasses all understanding.

With heartfelt sympathy,

Nick
