In Acceptance Lieth Peace

A poem by Amy Carmichael (1867-1951)

He said, 'I will forget the dying faces; The empty places,
They shall be filled again. O voices moaning deep within me, cease.
But vain the word; vain, vain: Not in forgetting lieth peace.

He said, 'I will crowd action upon action,
The strife of faction Shall stir me and sustain;
O tears that drown the fire of manhood cease.'
But vain the word; vain, vain: Not in endeavour lieth peace.

He said, 'I will withdraw me and be quiet, Why meddle in life's riot?
Shut be my door to pain. Desire, thou dost befool me, thou shalt cease.'
But vain the word; vain, vain: Not in aloofness lieth peace.

He said, 'I will submit; I am defeated.
God hath depleted My life of its rich gain.
O futile murmurings, why will ye not cease?'
But vain the word; vain, vain: Not in submission lieth peace.

He said, 'I will accept the breaking sorrow
Which God tomorrow Will to His son explain.'
Then did the turmoil deep within me cease.
Not vain the word, not vain; For in acceptance lieth peace.
