OBITUARY

Patricia Ann Wilson, lovingly known as "Sug" by her family and friends, was born on February 18, 1957, to the late Dollie Wilson and James Wilson. At an early age, she was baptized and accepted Christ, carrying her faith with her throughout her life.

On March 14, 2026, Patricia Ann Wilson was called home and taken under God's wings. With faith and peace, she accepted her journey, trusting that everything would be alright as she entered into her heavenly home.

She was educated in Chicago, where she spent part of her early years. Patricia found joy in the simple and meaningful moments of life. She loved spending time with her family, cooking, partying, and singing. Most of all, she was known for her sense of humor-always joking and making others laugh in her own special way.

The greatest joy of Patricia's life was motherhood. She treasured her children deeply: Latrice Wilson, Jessie Wilson, Simeon White, and Jessica White. Her love extended even further to her grandchildren, whom she adored: Shanetta Hartfield, Shawn Hartfield, Damion, Jessie, Dazhae, Jahlaya, and Janazha.

She also leaves behind her cherished great-grandchildren: Amyra Hartfield, Shawn Hartfield Jr., and Paislee Hartfield.

Patricia was preceded in death by her beloved mother, Dollie Wilson; her father, Frankie Palmer; her sister, Rosemary Palmer; and her brother. She also leaves behind her siblings, including her brother James Wilson and her brother Ronald Wilson, along with a host of cousins, nieces and nephews, loved ones, and dear friends who will forever hold her memory close.
