In Remembrance Of

“No one can duplicate the influence of a mother, however or wherever that mothering influence is expressed. Men can, and often do, communicate the love of Heavenly Father and the Savior to others. But women have a special gift for doing so- a divine endowment. Sisters have the innate capacity and gift to sense what someone needs- and when he or she needs it. Women seem to instinctively know how to reach out, comfort, teach, and strengthen someone in his or her moment of need. I have no reservation in declaring that women- and especially women of faith- are our hope for the future!”

President Russell M. Nelson from the book Heart of the Matter
